British Ready To Aid India In Defense

Macmillan Keeps In Close Touch With Nehru

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru pledged India will fight invading Chinese "until final victory is achieved." As he spoke Thursday, the Defense Ministry announced that Communist troops captured the key trading and Buddhist town of Towang—17 miles inside India—in bitter fighting.

The Indian leader suggested a possible dramatic shift in government policy, with the possibility of accepting help from "friendly nations" instead of insisting on paying cash for arms.

In London, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons Britain is ready to provide practical help to India to defend itself against the Chinese Communists. He did not spell out what he meant but it was interpreted as a readiness to supply arms. Macmillan said he is keeping in close touch with Nehru.

Towang, a monastery town of 7,000 along the historic India-Tibet trade route, fell as Communists were reported still advancing in a five-pronged offensive along the disputed border.

30,000 In Attack

Nehru said the Chinese have thrown more than 30,000 well-trained troops into the attack on northeastern India alone. A Defense Ministry spokesman acknowledged heavy Indian casualties since the Reds launched their offensive Saturday but claimed "We have inflicted heavier casualties on the aggressors."

Nehru, long an exponent of passive resistance in India's fight for independence from Britain, set the stage for a fight to death against the Chinese, whom he accused of "massive aggression."

Speaking to government information ministers, Nehru declared: "I want you all to realize the shock we suffered during the last week or so. We are getitng out of touch with realities in a modern world. We are living in an artificial atmosphere of our own creation and we have been shaken out of it."

There Is No Other Way

Hailing Winston Churchill as a symbol in leading Britain to victory from the brink of defeat in World War II, Nehru declared India must take the same defiant stand.

"There is no other way out," the Indian leader declared. "We will go on resisting and strengthening ourselves until victory is achieved."

Even as Nehru sought to raise the fighting spirit of his nation, a Defense Ministry spokesman announced two new Chinese attacks on the northeastern region, one 50 miles east of Longju, and the other 32 miles east of Longju.

At the northwest end of the disputed Himalayan border, Indian troops withdrew from a post in the Galwan valley. It is believed here the Chinese have captured all the territory they claim in the Ladakh region.

Members of Parliament called on Nehru and asked about seeking weapons from friendly countries for cash or on deferred payment. The prime minister replied his government's policy is to accept help from friendly nations. He was quoted as saying if any friendly nation wanted to help it could do so.

India, strapped for cash to buy weapons to match Chinese firepower, has been hesitant about acquiring arms on any other than a cash basis for fear this would end the government's nonaligned status. This dilemma has yet to be resolved, according to indications here.

Air Of Uneasy Calm Hangs Over U. S.-Cuban Situation

By JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev calmed the Cuban crisis only a bit Thursday with conciliatory words. The basic conflict remained and the U.S. naval armada maintained its blockading vigil.

It was in an air of uneasy calm that the first Soviet ship—the tanker Bucharest—was checked through the massive arms blockade without being boarded or inspected and a dozen other Russian vessels apparently turned back to avoid the picketing line of warships.

Words and actions thus postponed any real showdown over Russia's building of a nuclear missile arsenal in Cuba, deep in the Western Hemisphere.

The words were in reply to a proposal by U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant that both sides halt their activity for a week or two to allow time for efforts to reach an agreement that would avoid bloodshed.

Khrushchev notified Thant that he is willing to halt the arms shipments to Cuba if the United States will lift its naval blockade. Tass, the Soviet news agency announced this reply just before Kennedy's views were made known at the U.N. Security Council.

The President offered to arrange negotiations on Cuba but avoided a direct answer to Thant's appeal for a halt to the quarantine. Kennedy said his ambassador, Adlai E. Stevenson, is ready "to discuss promptly these arrangements with you."

One White House authority said this means the blockade will continue while the possibilities of a peaceful settlement are explored. He said "There are still Soviet ships headed toward Cuba and the only way this government can get precise information on some of these ships or the cargo they are carrying is through the quarantine."

Several hours after the Bucharest was given clearance to resume its voyage to Cuba, Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester confirmed unofficial reports that the tanker had not been boarded.

He said the ship had been under surveillance for an extended period before it made contact with the U.S. blockade. Sylvester said the appearance of the tanker floating low in the water and the absence of any special hatches or unusual design convinced the Navy captain who intercepted the Bucharest that she was loaded with oil—not a prohibited offensive weapon item.

Sylvester said the U.S. blockading ship came "reasonably close" to the Bucharest and there was an exchange between the two skippers. He declined to define reasonably close or to say whether the exchange was by radio, visual signal or some other method.

Stevenson Delivers Kennedy's Answer In Angry Exchange

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Kennedy agreed Thursday to preliminary talks proposed by acting Secretary-General U Thant on ending the U.S.-Soviet crisis over Cuba. But Thant failed to win any U.S. commitment on a temporary end to the naval arms blockade on Cuba during such negotiations.

Premier Khrushchev announced he would agree to a temporary simultaneous suspension of Soviet arms shipments and the blockade as proposed by Thant.

Replies of the world leaders were read to the U.N. Security Council by U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin.

Angry Exchanges

Their speeches contained angry charges and countercharges.

At one point Stevenson demanded an outright reply from Zorin on whether the Soviet Union had stationed long and short range missiles in Cuba.

He challenged Zorin to reply and when told by the Russians he would have to wait, Stevenson asserted:

"I am ready to wait until hell freezes over."

Moving swiftly in view of the replies, the acting Secretary-General announced he would begin private negotiations with the parties concerned Friday morning.

He said at the outset he would meet separately with the repre-

8 Latin American Nations Pledge Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced officially Thursday aid offered by eight Latin-American countries in support of the U.S. blockade of Cuba.

"This is "a gratifying response," the department said.

Press officer Lincoln White listed the assistance pledged by countries as follows:

1. Argentina informed the Organization of American States that it is cooperating in measures necessary for the defense of the continent. White said the State Department has unofficial knowledge that Argentina is prepared to offer two destroyers for the quarantine operations.

2. El Salvador, White said, "would provide, without reserve, all moral and material assistance against an extracontinental aggressor."

3. In Costa Rica, a presidential announcement offered the use of port and airport facilities. The Costa Rican Legislature approved support of the quarantine with a 52-1 vote.

4. The president of Honduras offered assistance "within Honduras' means."

5. In Ecuador, the chief of staff of the 1st Naval Zone announced that his country was already cooperating by furnishing information concerning movements of foreign vessels.

6. The Colombian press reported that the country will send naval units to cooperate in the quarantine, but no official notification has reached Washington thus far.

7. The president of Guatemala announced that his army will provide "full military assistance," under the Rio Defense Pact.

8. The Dominican Republic, White said, offered "full participation, without reserve, in the measures taken by the OAS and the United Nations to eliminate the threat in Cuba."

People Begin To Prepare For Shooting War

WASHINGTON (AP) — People here and there in the national capital area are stocking their basements and fallout shelters but the Cuban crisis seemed to have set off no food buying scare.

A spotcheck of major chain store headquarters and some individual stores Thursday told pretty much the same story:

Some people are buying extra amounts of canned goods—but not in case amounts generally—and items such as flashlight batteries are selling faster than usual.

One store manager said one woman came in Wednesday and bought 160 cans of beef stew. He added: "I hope she has some way of heating it."

In nearby Maryland, one woman carrying home two bottles of distilled water and a case of canned fruit punch explained she had been asked to prepare to house 25 children in her basement.

One food chain executive who said he had made an extensive check in his own stores and with

Soviet Leader May Intend To Appear At UN

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Western diplomats said Thursday night Premier Khrushchev's acceptance of U.N. Cuban crisis proposals, pending a settlement, appeared to prepare a way for the Soviet leader to go personally before the United Nations.

The proposals of U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant are that arms shipments to Cuba be suspended by the Soviet Union while the American quarantine around Cuba is also suspended.

This would continue for a period of two or three weeks during which an effort would be made to find a solution of the problem that has brought warnings of nuclear war.

Late Thursday, Kennedy offered to arrange negotiations on Cuba but avoid a direct answer to Thant's appeal for a halt to the quarantine. A White House authority said this means the blockade will continue while the possibilities of a peaceful settlement are explored.

Diplomats here noted an important part of Thant's proposal was a suggestion that the suspensions "should give time to the parties concerned to meet and discuss with a view to finding a peaceful solution of the problem."

The observers quickly concluded that Khrushchev was looking toward an early trip to the United Nations, probably in November.

In America he would be virtually certain to have talks with President Kennedy and probably with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, in the view of diplomats here.

JFK Renews Pledge To Aid Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — President Kennedy has sent a renewed American pledge of support to this Western outpost, Mayor Willy Brandt told an applauding West Berlin parliament session Thursday.

Brandt spoke while U.S. Army troops alerted in the Cuban crisis maneuvered in the isolated city's Grunewald Forest and 400 soldiers of Britain's crack King's regiment rolled into West Berlin from West German training grounds.

Across the wall, a top Cuban communist leader told East Berliners Kennedy's missile buildup speech was built on "lies."

Brandt said he was unable to disclose the contents of Kennedy's new message, but stressed it "is clear that all that is necessary will be done to reinforce the position of the free world."

Brandt said "Berlin will work as usual and not get nervous."

Pope John XXIII Issues Urgent Peace Appeal

VATICAN CITY (AP) —Pope John XXIII, mindful of the Cuban crisis, urgently appealed Thursday to the world's rulers to do "everything in their power to save peace."

Spare mankind "the horrors of a war that would have disastrous consequences, such as nobody can foresee," the 80-year-old pontiff pleaded.

His voice and his words revealed his deep concern as he spoke on a worldwide Vatican radio broadcast, hastily set up in his private studio. His glasses lay unused on his desk. A globe was beside him. On the wall behind it hung a crucifix.

"Let them continue to negotiate," Pope John said of the world's leaders, "because this loyal and open attitude is of great value as a witness for the conscience of each one and in the face of history."

The head of the Roman Catholic Church said that promoting, favoring and accepting negotiations — whatever the level and whatever the time — is "a rule of wisdom and prudence which calls

First Soviet Ship Stopped Given Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. forces allowed a Soviet oil tanker to pass through the Cuban blockade without incident Thursday but the Defense Department said that other Russian ships are on the way and will have to be stopped and searched.

The first crucial interception of a Russian vessel involved the tanker Bucharest. It was permitted to continue to Cuba because its cargo consisted of petroleum which was not banned by President Kennedy's quarantine orders. The Bucharest was not boarded by a Navy crew.

However, Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester said that the handling of the Bucharest does not indicate any relaxation of Kennedy's "hail, stop and search" orders to the Navy blockade task force.

In its announcement of the initial blockade action taken against the Bucharest, the Defense Department said that "at least a dozen Soviet vessels" bound for Cuba have turned back, probably because they were bringing embargoed military equipment to the Fidel Castro regime.

But Sylvester said late in the day that Soviet ships still were continuing toward Cuba.

Would they need to be investigated, he was asked.

"I would not doubt it," he replied.

1,700 American Dependents Get Home Safely

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) —Seventeen-hundred dependents evacuated from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo arrived home by ship Thursday and were greeted by a brass band and a cheering throng.

The USNS Upshur berthed at the naval station pier at 4 p.m. EDT and buses rushed the dependents to a reception center where they began making plans to travel to their homes throughout the nation.

The Navy hoped to have them all on their way home within 48 hours. Commercial transportation companies were alerted for the mass departure.

Navy, Marines and Waves volunteers assisted the evacuees who included 200 babies under 2 years of age.

Most of the dependents reacted with the traditional stoicism of military families accustomed to leaving their loved ones behind, or being left behind.

But there were a few tearful reunions with relatives and friends.

At least two wives received a surpise welcome. Their husband, who saw them off at Guantanamo, showed up on the pier because they happened to be crewmen on a plane which made a courier flight to the states.

The dependents were taken to two huge, modern barracks at the Little Creek amphibious base hdre. The barracks were equipped with an infirmary, nursery, Red Cross stations, even facilities to mix feeding formula for babies.

Truman Opposes Talks At Summit

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman Thursday warned President Kennedy against agreeing to a summit meeting during the current crisis over Cuba.

"They aren't worth a damn," Truman said of summit meetings.

The former president, who called a news conference here Thursday, also said he had cancelled the remainder of his scheduled appearances in the current political campaign because of the crisis.

He said his decision was motivated by "my long time practice that partisan politics be adjourned in time of national danger."

Truman called upon "everyone, regardless of his party affiliations, to support the Chief Executive."

Ike Issues Call For National Unity

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Thursday night called upon all loyal Americans to form a "visible and genuine" unity against those who threaten the security of the nation.

In an address for delivery at a Republican party rally in this city's new Civic Auditorium, Eisenhower warned that "we must be prepared on behalf of the nation to make sacrifices whenever and to whatever extent is needed."

Although not mentioning President Kennedy by name, the former chief executive told his audience that every American "will carry out and conform to any instructions pertaining to it (the Cuban crisis) as proclaimed by the Commander in Chief."

Series Of Demonstrations Against Blockade Seen Around World

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — More than 2,000 Czechoslovak students marched on the U.S. Embassy in Prague in a pro-Cuban demonstration Thursday and ripped the American flag from its staff. Anti-U.S. demonstrations in other world capitals, including a series of bombings directed at U.S. property in South America, were of lesser violence.

The Czech students attacked the embassy with stones, smashing half a dozen windows and chanting "Yankee go home" and "Cuba si, Yankee no." A U.S. Embassy spokesman reached by telephone from Vienna said Czech police stood by as the students came from a noisy anti-American rally, climbed on the building and tore down the flag. The demonstrators pressed on the front door in an effort to burst in but the door had been locked, the spokesman said.

The demonstrators blocked the arrival of the U.S. charge d'affaires, Jack M. Fleischer, and his car had to turn back. He protested to the Czech Foreign Ministry.

In Moscow, about 50 students appeared on the sidewalk outside the nine-story embassy building during lunch hour. About three hours later a larger group of about 100 began marching up and down, whistling and chanting insults. The embassy locked its gates and cleared the first floor of workers. Police sent the demonstrators home shortly after nightfall.

In South America, the anti-American activity Wednesday night and early Thursday was mild in comparison to previous outbreaks when the United States took less serious steps than the present quarantine in its dispute with Cuba.

Venezuelan authorities said Communist terrorists set off a bomb that blew out the front windows of the First National City Bank of New York branch in Caracas. A previous bombing there wrecked the offices of the Reynolds Aluminum Co. Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez said Communists were organizing a terrorist assault on U.S. business firms in retaliation for the Cuban blockade.

In Buenos Aires, Argentina, three small bombs exploded in the joint U.S.-Argentine "Allies for Progress" exhibit but damage was small. Four bombs were thrown at the home of a U.S. Embassy official, Charles St. John who, lives on Cuba St. in Buenos Aires. One of the bombs hit the home of a neighbor. The others hit St. John's home, setting fire to a window shutter.

"I would not doubt it," he replied.

Truman Opposes Talks At Summit

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman Thursday warned President Kennedy against agreeing to a summit meeting during the current crisis over Cuba.

"They aren't worth a damn," Truman said of summit meetings.

The former president, who called a news conference here Thursday, also said he had cancelled the remainder of his scheduled appearances in the current political campaign because of the crisis.

He said his decision was motivated by "my long time practice that partisan politics be adjourned in time of national danger."

Truman called upon "everyone, regardless of his party affiliations, to support the Chief Executive."

Series Of Demonstrations Against Blockade Seen Around World

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — More than 2,000 Czechoslovak students marched on the U.S. Embassy in Prague in a pro-Cuban demonstration Thursday and ripped the American flag from its staff. Anti-U.S. demonstrations in other world capitals, including a series of bombings directed at U.S. property in South America, were of lesser violence.

The Czech students attacked the embassy with stones, smashing half a dozen windows and chanting "Yankee go home" and "Cuba si, Yankee no." A U.S. Embassy spokesman reached by telephone from Vienna said Czech police stood by as the students came from a noisy anti-American rally, climbed on the building and tore down the flag. The demonstrators pressed on the front door in an effort to burst in but the door had been locked, the spokesman said.

The demonstrators blocked the arrival of the U.S. charge d'affaires, Jack M. Fleischer, and his car had to turn back. He protested to the Czech Foreign Ministry.

In Moscow, about 50 students appeared on the sidewalk outside the nine-story embassy building during lunch hour. About three hours later a larger group of about 100 began marching up and down, whistling and chanting insults. The embassy locked its gates and cleared the first floor of workers. Police sent the demonstrators home shortly after nightfall.

In South America, the anti-American activity Wednesday night and early Thursday was mild in comparison to previous outbreaks when the United States took less serious steps than the present quarantine in its dispute with Cuba.

Venezuelan authorities said Communist terrorists set off a bomb that blew out the front windows of the First National City Bank of New York branch in Caracas. A previous bombing there wrecked the offices of the Reynolds Aluminum Co. Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez said Communists were organizing a terrorist assault on U.S. business firms in retaliation for the Cuban blockade.

In Buenos Aires, Argentina, three small bombs exploded in the joint U.S.-Argentine "Allies for Progress" exhibit but damage was small. Four bombs were thrown at the home of a U.S. Embassy official, Charles St. John who, lives on Cuba St. in Buenos Aires. One of the bombs hit the home of a neighbor. The others hit St. John's home, setting fire to a window shutter.

Key West, Fla., Residents Feel Impact Of Military

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A tinge of suspense and a wave of patriotism swept this island city Thursday on the heels of increased military activity.

The U.S. blockade of Cuba, located 90 miles south of here, prompted residents to make the same preparations they might for a hurricane.

Businessmen reported increased sales of distilled water, canned meats and dried fruits.

"But the buying of these items is nothing more than a natural be-ready move," said T. N. Alexander, a supermarket manager.

Police desk St. C. E. Wallace said, "Misdemeanor calls have dwindled since the local bases were reinforced, but we still are busy acting as escorts."

City Manager Bazell Crowe said the city would do "anything" to help the military get situated. The City Commission in a regular session Wednesday night leased a baseball field and beach to the Army Engineer Corps.

The field was used as a motor pool Wednesday night.

Old Glory sprouted from homes around this four-mile long island city of some 50,000 residents.

sentatives of the United States, the Soviet Union and Cuba.

The council agreed to suspend the debate indefinitely for the duration of the negotiations. The meeting was adjourned at 7:25 p.m. EDT.

Kennedy made clear in the statement read to the council by Stevenson that the United States regarded the secret introduction of offensive weapons into Cuba as the No. 1 issue in the crisis.

The President told Thant "the answer lies in the removal of such weapons."

Khrushchev Replies

Zorin read the reply from Khrushchev in which the Soviet leader said he welcomed the secretary-general's initiative.

Khrushchev said he understood Thant's concern "since the Soviet government also considers this situation as highly dangerous and requiring an immediate interference by the United Nations.

"I am informing you that I agree with your proposal which meets the interests of peace."

Stevenson was stung by charges from Zorin that Kennedy had failed to inform Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in their talks in Washington a week ago that the United States had proof of Soviet offensive weapons in Cuba.

"I'll tell you why—because we were assembling the evidence," Stevenson told Zorin, who was presiding over the council as its October president.

"We wanted to see how far a Soviet official could go in perfidy."

"We have the proof and will show it to you," he said.

"Let me say something else: These weapons must be taken out of Cuba."

Then Stevenson displayed to the council pictures he said were taken of launching sites for intermediate range missiles.

Soviets Off Guard

Soviet Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin (left) confers with his aides during an emergency session of the United Nations Security Council in New York. Clockwise from Zorin are G. P. Arcadev, Platon Morozov and Evgeny Kiselev. Zorin condemned the U. S. blockade of arms to Cuba and also the proposal for the U. N. to supervise dismantling of Soviet rockets already installed there.

French Military Get Alert Orders

PARIS (UPI) — The French armed forces Thursday went on "no. 2" alert orders, the final stage before general mobilization, because of the Cuban crisis.

Government sources said, however, that President Charles De Gaulle does not believe the Cuban situation will grow into a nuclear conflict. He was said to have told his Cabinet Wednesday that he hopes the crisis will be settled without war but with additional prestige for President Kennedy.

Before making his broadcast, the pontiff had seperate audiences with three American prelates: Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles and Archbishop John Joseph Krol of Philadelphia.

The Pope scheduled his radio appeal only a few hours before he went on the air. Most of the 2,400 prelates here for the Vatican Ecumenical Council were not even aware the Pope had spoken until after the noon broadcast. The council was in recess Thursday. It resumes Friday.

competitors "found business brisk at best" and added "the public is well under control and I don't expect to see a buying scare develop, as of now."

Another chain executive said there was "a definite" increase in food buying Tuesday, the day after President Kennedy's address announcing his Cuban quarantine, "but things are back to normal today."

One executive said the best indication of a scare would be in purchases by case lots, "and we've had none of that" beyond normal sales.

The Washington Evening Star reported that firms it contacted reported not one order for a home fallout shelter has been placed this week. However, the firms said they had received numerous inquiries about shelter costs.

Civil Defense centers reported a brisk run on their telephones from people asking what precautions might be taken. Their advice:

Stock your basement with a two-week supply of canned foods and water; plan on a quart of water per person each day as adequate for drinking purposes only.

Supplies should include a battery-powered radio, a flashlight or candles, a first aid kit, blankets and warm clothing.

British Pledge U.S. Full Support

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and his Labor opposition Thursday pledged support for the United States in its efforts to halt the Cuban arms buildup, which he called "a deliberate adventure" by the Soviets to test the United States.

San Francisco—Super Shell with Platformate has just delivered a mileage bonus of 4.33 percent. Platformate is Super Shell's mileage ingredient. Shell engineers test Super Shell for mileage in many different types of cars, in many different places. Here's how the test above was run. Exactly 250 cc (about half a pint) of a fuel blended without Platformate was fed into the test car's engine. The car was started, accelerated to 30 miles per hour, then held there until fuel ran out and the car rolled to a stop. Distance: 6186 feet (indicated by dotted line in background). Next, test was repeated, using Super Shell—the same fuel as before but with Platformate added. Precise same volume of fuel. Same car. Same speed. Same driver. Same conditions. Distance: 6454 feet. That's 4.33 percent farther than the car traveled with non-Platformate gasoline.

MILEAGE TEST

New documented tests prove that one of Super Shell's 9 ingredients packs extra mileage into every gallon

THE picture above was snapped a few moments after Super Shell with an extra mileage ingredient called Platformate delivered a mileage bonus of 4.33 percent.

That's a typical result from a series of mileage tests Shell engineers recently ran on the outskirts of San Francisco.

The tests compared two gasolines. One was a gasoline Shell scientists purposely blended without Platformate. The other was Super Shell—the same gasoline as before but with Platformate added.

Shell engineers used a 1962 convertible for the tests. You may be driving a similar car right now.

In test after test, Super Shell with Platformate consistently took the car about 4 percent farther than the gasoline blended without Platformate.

NOTE: For more details on these tests, see caption under picture. And for technical data, write to the Shell Oil Company, 50 West 50 Street, New York 20, N. Y.

Platformate gets its name from the platinum re-forming process used to make it.

Pressures up to 600 pounds per square inch and temperatures up to 1000 degrees literally tear petroleum apart. A precious platinum catalyst then helps re-form the petroleum into super-energy components.

RESULT: Platformate can release more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline. Your engine can convert extra energy into extra mileage.

Super Shell has 9 ingredients for top performance

Extra mileage is just one part of the top performance story. Super Shell's other ingredients complete the picture. Here's what they are and what they do.

*TCP for power, mileage, longer plug life.

Pentane mix—for fast "warm-up."

Butane—for quick starts.

Anti-knock mix—to resist all kinds of knock.

Alkylate—to help control "high-speed knock."

"Cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.

Gum preventive—to help keep carburetors clean inside.

SHELL

Super Shell—the gasoline with 9 ingredients for top performance

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2889212.

Queen Elizabeth Blames Reds For Armament Race

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II declared today the Communist bloc is to blame for the continuing world armament race.

In a speech written by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government to end the current Parliament session, the queen said:

"My government have continued their active support for the United Nations and its agencies and have worked to achieve the purposes to which the United Nations charter gives expression.

"At the conference in Geneva they have supported proposals for general and complete disarmament and jointly with the government of the United States have brought forward proposals for the banning of tests or nuclear weapons.

"Unfortunately, owing to the attitude adopted by the Soviet Union and its allies, agreement has not yet been reached on either of those issues."

"My government," she added, "are in close consultation with the United States and my other allies about the dangerous situation created by the supply of offensive weapons to Cuba."

Numerous Catholic Bishops Endorse U.S. Stand On Cuba Blockade

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII pleaded Wednesday for discussions to avoid war, and Roman Catholic leaders of many lands at the Vatican Ecumenical Council joined in calls for persistent efforts to maintain world peace in the face of the Cuban crisis.

Numerous bishops from North and South America voiced strong support for the U.S. arms quarantine of Cuba, or said the U.S. action was justified.

Many prelates from other areas, including Asia and Africa, were noncommittal on cold-war politics.

The Pope mentioned the international situation with grave concern at his weekly audience.

He said God's help is needed to preserve the peace of mankind.

Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, said that "at long last the administration is doing something" about the Communist military buildup in Cuba.

"Why they didn't do it sooner I don't know," he added. "Every time we have stood up to Khrushchev he has backed down."

Bishop Albert R. Zuroweste of Belleville, Ill., said the Communist arming of Cuba is a "distinct threat to world peace," and added that he felt Kennedy had "every right" to act.

Bishop Leonard P. Cowley of St. Paul, Minn., voicing support for Kennedy's action, said the council here now has a double obligation, to carry on its regular work, and "to pray real hard for peace."

Many prelates from other areas, including Asia and Africa, were noncommittal on cold-war politics.

The Pope mentioned the international situation with grave concern at his weekly audience.

He said God's help is needed to preserve the peace of mankind.

Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, said that "at long last the administration is doing something" about the Communist military buildup in Cuba.

"Why they didn't do it sooner I don't know," he added. "Every time we have stood up to Khrushchev he has backed down."

Bishop Albert R. Zuroweste of Belleville, Ill., said the Communist arming of Cuba is a "distinct threat to world peace," and added that he felt Kennedy had "every right" to act.

Bishop Leonard P. Cowley of St. Paul, Minn., voicing support for Kennedy's action, said the council here now has a double obligation, to carry on its regular work, and "to pray real hard for peace."

In composition, coins issued 2,000 years ago by the Bactrian peoples of ancient Asia are not unlike the present United States five-cent piece.

A hybrid rice has been developed which may double the yields of Asian fields.

Police Hold Fugitive In Death Of Young Marine

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — A body identified by laundry marks on the clothing, a high speed chase with police gunfire and the arrest of a fugitive from san quentin prison formed connecting links Thursday as police investigated the strangling of a young Marine.

The Marine was John H. Brown Jr., 23. His body was found in a wooded area near Aberdeen in Harford County Tuesday. He had left his wife and two children at their home in Berkeley, Calif. to visit his father and grandmother in Mt. Vernon, N.Y.

Brown's body was identified by laundry marks which matched the first four digits in his service serial number.

Police in Washington, D.C., arrested William S. Morehouse Wednesday night after Morehouse — driving Brown's car — outdistanced police of suburban Prince Georges County in a 90 m.p.h. chase. Police fired at the fleeing car and it crashed.

Later, police said a picture of Brown's wife and children were found in Morehouse's possession.

The FBI said Morehouse escaped from a San Quentin road gang earlier this month. He was serving a 10-year sentence for rape.

Guantanamo Commander's Wife Kept Bag Packed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The wife of Guantanamo's commander had kept a bag packed for five months, but she says the order to leave the Cuban base still came as a surprise.

Mrs. Ruth O'Donnell, wife of Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell, is staying with her mother near the U. S. Naval Academy here.

She was evacuated Monday night on a hospital plane and helped care for patients during the flight to Norfolk.

"I was amazed at how orderly everybody proceeded," she said. "Everyone took the news calmly, and no one even cried."

The Admiral's wife said no women or children are housed at Guantanamo now. Mrs. O'Donnell went to Cuba in December 1960, when her husband took command of the base.

Damage Suit Filed In Court

A damage suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by Ann Miller, 13, through her mother, Mrs. Esther Miller, Frostburg, against two Barton men as the result of a highway accident near Barton last July 5.

The declaration was filed by John Sullivan, attorney for the Millers, and stated that Robert E. Whetzel, Barton, is the owner of the car and Ralph E. Custer, also of Barton, was the driver at the time of the accident.

The Miller girl was a passenger in a car operated by her mother when it was involved in a crash with the Whetzel machine.

No Changes Seen In Draft Call

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) —Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, said here Wednesday night he did not know whether the Cuban crisis would increase the draft.

In an interview, Hershey said Congress doesn't want to call those who were called up during the Berlin crisis.

Hershey met here with several state officials and inspected Reserve units.

American farmers now use about the same acreage as in 1920, but only half as many man-hours of labor.

Total personal income in West Virginia last year set a new record by reaching a level of $3,126,000,000.

Police Hold Fugitive In Death Of Young Marine

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — A body identified by laundry marks on the clothing, a high speed chase with police gunfire and the arrest of a fugitive from san quentin prison formed connecting links Thursday as police investigated the strangling of a young Marine.

The Marine was John H. Brown Jr., 23. His body was found in a wooded area near Aberdeen in Harford County Tuesday. He had left his wife and two children at their home in Berkeley, Calif. to visit his father and grandmother in Mt. Vernon, N.Y.

Brown's body was identified by laundry marks which matched the first four digits in his service serial number.

Police in Washington, D.C., arrested William S. Morehouse Wednesday night after Morehouse — driving Brown's car — outdistanced police of suburban Prince Georges County in a 90 m.p.h. chase. Police fired at the fleeing car and it crashed.

Later, police said a picture of Brown's wife and children were found in Morehouse's possession.

The FBI said Morehouse escaped from a San Quentin road gang earlier this month. He was serving a 10-year sentence for rape.

Guantanamo Commander's Wife Kept Bag Packed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The wife of Guantanamo's commander had kept a bag packed for five months, but she says the order to leave the Cuban base still came as a surprise.

Mrs. Ruth O'Donnell, wife of Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell, is staying with her mother near the U. S. Naval Academy here.

She was evacuated Monday night on a hospital plane and helped care for patients during the flight to Norfolk.

"I was amazed at how orderly everybody proceeded," she said. "Everyone took the news calmly, and no one even cried."

The Admiral's wife said no women or children are housed at Guantanamo now. Mrs. O'Donnell went to Cuba in December 1960, when her husband took command of the base.

Wife Beater May Get Whipping Post

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Robert D. Bagley, 32-year-old airman at Dover Air Force Base, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of wife beating. Conviction of the offense is punished by whipping in Delaware.

Bagley, arrested Oct. 15 on complaint of his wife, Micheline, entered the plea in Kent County Court of Common Pleas. Judge William G. Bush III postponed sentencing.

Although whipping is the mandatory punishment for the crime, the judge is permitted to omit or reduce the number of lashes if there are extenuating circumstances.

A soil test, when properly performed, can help eliminate most of the guesswork involved in planning a soil fertility program on farms.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Your Stocking Style Tells A Fashion Story

I couldn't begin to advise you, in these few paragraphs, of all the news in the hosiery departments, so you must be your own sleuth. I will tell you something more basic, however: how to shape and beautify your legs, so you can't help but have an interest in the sheer or sporting coat that sheathes them.

Ankles. "Wring out" your ankles as you would a wet towel. Use a sideways winding motion, turning the hands simultaneously about the ankles in opposite directions, back and forth. This is a slimming technique.

Here is one that increases: Sit with the legs outstretched, heels only touching the floor. Pull the toes and feet backward, holding for a count of five. Relax. Repeat 25 times.

Calves. Try this for reducing: Sit on the floor with legs out and together. Stretch feet down toward the floor, hold for a count of five, and relax. Repeat 15 times. Try this for increasing: Stand barefoot, with one foot about a pace ahead of the other. Come up on the toes, then bend your knees, and gradually sink to the floor. (Be sure to hold your back erect.) Rise to your toes again, and repeat 10 times. Reverse foot position, and perform 10 times more.

If you wish to reduce the calves, wear high heels whenever feasible. Flats, ballet slippers, and the like set up tension in the calf muscles, tending to increase their development. That's good for the too-slim calf, but not for the fleshy one!

If your knees are somewhat flabby, try this exercise: Stand with feet together and pull kneecaps upward. Hold, relax, repeat 20 times. Without moving the feet, pull your kneecaps sideways, away from each other. Again hold, relax, and repeat 20 times.

WANT TO GAIN WEIGHT? Lose it? Remain the same? Whatever your weight problem, YOUR BEAUTY DIET will show you the answer. Get your copy by sending 10c and a stamped, return envelope to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♥

A clever piece of deception by West in today's hand led to the upset of a contract which had all the earmarks of a sure thing.

West overcalled South's one spade opening with a bid of two diamonds. North was fractionally shy of the values for a free bid, and East's two heart call was in the nature of a lead director to partner should the opponents buy the hand. South was unwilling to abandon hope for game despite North's previous pass, and he extended an invitation to his partner by jumping to three spades. North, of course, carried on to four.

West led his singleton ten of hearts. East played the ace and returned a heart for his partner to ruff. In trumping, however, West selected the jack of spades as the card to win the trick. He observed that North's queen of hearts was now established as a winner and that, if declarer had only a doubleton diamond, he could eventually discard his loser in that suit on the good hearts. In order to circumvent this strategy, West hit on a ruse which might induce South to commit himself prematurely.

At trick three, West shifted to the jack of diamonds. Declarer could have permitted the lead to ride around to his queen since the two diamond overcaller was pretty well marked with the king of that suit. However, when West ruffed in with the jack of spades, it appeared to the entire world that he was now out of trumps, in which case a discard was available immediately on the dummy's queen of hearts. So reasoning, declarer decided it was unnecessary to take the slightest risk, and he put up the ace of diamonds from the North hand and then led the high heart so that he could discard the queen of diamonds from his hand.

South's shock was considerable when West produced the nine of spades to trump the trick. The latter had only to exit with the king of diamonds and then sit back and wait for his king of clubs to set the contract.

Sergeant Missile Declared Ready

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (UPI)—Army troops Wednesday fired a sergeant missile on its first war-ready test and the Army disclosed that its 1,600-pound warhead could carry chemicals and biological payloads as well as nuclear ones.

The 34-foot solid fuel missile sped aloft from its mobile launch platform perfectly in its first operational firing.

The Sergeant is designed to replace the presently war-ready Corporal, a liquid-fueled rocket that is harder to handle and which takes more time to fire. Sergeant has a range of between 25 and 85 miles, will provide battlefield troops with an easy to use fast-firing weapon capable of delivering nuclear or other warheads against opposing troops or installations.

Entry Of Store Is Probed Here

City Police are investigating a breaking and entering of the Goodwill Store on Virginia Avenue, with the intruder reportedly making off with more than $10.

The entry, reported by the occupant of an apartment over the store, was made by breaking a window on the south side of the building. Police said the cash register was forced, and that store officials informed them 10 $1 bills and a small amount of change was missing.

Wife Beater May Get Whipping Post

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Robert D. Bagley, 32-year-old airman at Dover Air Force Base, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of wife beating. Conviction of the offense is punished by whipping in Delaware.

Bagley, arrested Oct. 15 on complaint of his wife, Micheline, entered the plea in Kent County Court of Common Pleas. Judge William G. Bush III postponed sentencing.

Although whipping is the mandatory punishment for the crime, the judge is permitted to omit or reduce the number of lashes if there are extenuating circumstances.

Secrets Of Charm

Your Stocking Style Tells A Fashion Story

I couldn't begin to advise you, in these few paragraphs, of all the news in the hosiery departments, so you must be your own sleuth. I will tell you something more basic, however: how to shape and beautify your legs, so you can't help but have an interest in the sheer or sporting coat that sheathes them.

Ankles. "Wring out" your ankles as you would a wet towel. Use a sideways winding motion, turning the hands simultaneously about the ankles in opposite directions, back and forth. This is a slimming technique.

Here is one that increases: Sit with the legs outstretched, heels only touching the floor. Pull the toes and feet backward, holding for a count of five. Relax. Repeat 25 times.

Calves. Try this for reducing: Sit on the floor with legs out and together. Stretch feet down toward the floor, hold for a count of five, and relax. Repeat 15 times. Try this for increasing: Stand barefoot, with one foot about a pace ahead of the other. Come up on the toes, then bend your knees, and gradually sink to the floor. (Be sure to hold your back erect.) Rise to your toes again, and repeat 10 times. Reverse foot position, and perform 10 times more.

If you wish to reduce the calves, wear high heels whenever feasible. Flats, ballet slippers, and the like set up tension in the calf muscles, tending to increase their development. That's good for the too-slim calf, but not for the fleshy one!

If your knees are somewhat flabby, try this exercise: Stand with feet together and pull kneecaps upward. Hold, relax, repeat 20 times. Without moving the feet, pull your kneecaps sideways, away from each other. Again hold, relax, and repeat 20 times.

WANT TO GAIN WEIGHT? Lose it? Remain the same? Whatever your weight problem, YOUR BEAUTY DIET will show you the answer. Get your copy by sending 10c and a stamped, return envelope to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Adventists See Prophecy Fulfilled

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — A Seventh-Day Adventist official said Thursday night that "global threat of thermonuclear war in the Cuban crisis is another indication of fulfillment of Bible prophecy of last-day events."

Cyril Miller, religious liberty secretary of the Columbia Union Conference of the church, made the statement at a meeting of the annual advisory council of the conference.

"The Bible predicts international conflict preceding the return of Jesus Christ to the world," he said. "The only hope of the world today is Jesus Christ."

Commando Raids

HONG KONG (UPI) — The newspaper China Mail reported Thursday that heavily-armed Nationalist Chinese commando raiders have struck repeatedly in the past two weeks along the south coast of Communist China. It said the commandos used motorized rubber rafts to raid pillboxes, police stations and sentry posts.

The Detroit Police Department was the first to install radios in patrol cars.

Local Banker, With 51 Years Service, Will Retire November 1

Harry C. Landis, Schley Street, vice president and cashier of the First National Bank and Trust Company, will retire on November 1 after 51 years service with that bank.

Landis began his career with the bank on May 1, 1911, as a bookkeeper when Henry Shriver was president.

In 1925, he was promoted to assistant cashier and in 1943 was made cashier. He was elected vice president in 1954.

Landis recalled that when he came to the First National it was a two-story brick building with stairs leading to the entrance from Baltimore Street.

In the back on Dexter Place, Robert Shriver, a brother of Henry Shriver, maintained his residence.

Shortly after he started there, the bank was torn down to make way for the present structure.

During construction, the temporary banking quarters were established in the building now occupied by Peskins. Space was made available when Schwarzenbach moved from there to the present building on the other side of Baltimore Street, where the clothing firm is now located.

Since that time, he has lived through three remodeling projects.

Landis has been an active member of Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks for 35 years, serving on a number of operating committees. He also participated in the annual Minstrelks, working on committees.

He belonged to the K. O. G. Club which was active before and after World War I, and with the late Howard Spiker arranged the club reunion here three years ago.

He was born in Cumberland in 1894, the son of the late William H. and Mary E. (Eichman) Landis.

He and his wife have three children, Capt. Harry C. Landis, stationed in Washington with the Air Force; Mrs. Jean Landis Sharps, at home; and Mrs. Dorothy Calhoun, Manassas, Va.

He, his brother, Eugene Landis, this city, and his sister, Mrs. Marjory Cox, Catonsville, are the only surviving members of the family of ten children.

In his retirement, Landis observed that he will continue to remain active. Always one to keep fit by walking, Landis said he estimates he walks at least five miles daily, and said he will keep up that schedule, or even add more miles, when he retires.

Conlon Says Democrats Could Be More Helpful Than GOP In Route 36 Work

Del. Thomas F. Conlon commented at a Democratic rally at the Legion post home in Westernport Wednesday on efforts being made by Republicans "to mislead people" about State Route 36 in George Creek.

"Route 36 has been in Allegany County for many, many years, and during the eight years of the McKeldin administration, when the county had a solid Republican delegation at Annapolis, no substantial improvement was made on Route 36 between Frostburg and Westernport," Del. Conlon said.

"Under the present Tawes administration, the improvement of Route 36 between Barton and Westernport has been undertaken, and I can assure all the people of Allegany County that all Democrats elected to the Legislature from this county are heartily in favor of the continued improvement of Route 36 between Frostburg and Westernport, and they will do everything in their power to have these improvements completed during the next four years."

He added that, in his opinion, Democratic representation in the Legislature would be more helpful on this matter than would representation from the opposite party.

William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, spoke on behalf of the local Democratic ticket, and after stressing the records of the Democrats now in office in this county, and the abilities of all the other Democratic candidates, Walsh said:

"The election of local Democrats in this county requires the solid support of all Democrats, and I am confident that the splendid ticket which we have this year merits and will have that support. We also realize that since the Democratic Party is the minority party in Allegany County, the success of local Democratic candidates needs the support of many Republican voters, and we are this year particularly appealing for such support. After all, every voter, whether Democrat or Republican, is interested in good government, and good government requires capable officeholders. We believe that the Democratic candidates this year are unusually well qualified, and we particularly appeal to our open-minded Republican friends and the independent voters of the county to support them," Walsh stated.

"I might add, that in this campaign, we are not attacking anyone, by inference or otherwise, but our candidates are appealing to the voters on their own merits, and I am confident that a large number of Republicans and independents will support them."

Edward J. Ryan spoke on behalf of the Democratic state ticket and Congressional candidates, and he emphasized their experience and their records. He also stressed the fact that Thomas B. Finan of this county, the present Attorney General of Maryland by appointment of Governor Tawes, is the Democratic candidate for attorney general on the Democratic ticket, and he expressed the view that thousands of Republicans in Allegany County would vote for him as a native son, and that Ryan was confident that Finan would carry this county on November 6 "by a very handsome majority."

He further pointed out that Governor Tawes had carried the county by more than three thousand votes in 1958, that he believed he would also carry the county this year, and that he also believed that Louis Goldstein, the Democratic candidate for comptroller, who lost this county by only 232 votes in 1958, would carry the county this year.

Ryan said that the candidacy of Daniel Brewster for U. S. Senator provides the people of Allegany County and the state an opportunity to send to Washington an outstanding legislator.

Brewster served in the House of Delegates of the General Assembly and is currently in his second term in the House of Representatives.

He further stated that John R. Foley, the Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth District, had been elected to Congress in 1958 and lost this county by less than 700 votes, and that with the united support which Foley was receiving from the Democratic Party and from organized labor he was confident that Foley would again make a very strong run in Allegany County, and he predicted his reelection to Congress from this District.

Ryan also called attention to the fact that Carlton Sickles, who is running as the Democratic candidate for Congressman-at-Large in Maryland, had carried this county in the primary, largely through the support of organized labor, and that with the continuance of that support, as well as the full support of the Democratic Party, he too would make a strong run. He also said the Democratic majority in the state as a whole would assure Sickles' election.

James E. Kenny, a member of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County, and a native of Westernport, presided.

LaSalle High School is host team for the tournament.

Conlon Says Democrats Could Be More Helpful Than GOP In Route 36 Work

Del. Thomas F. Conlon commented at a Democratic rally at the Legion post home in Westernport Wednesday on efforts being made by Republicans "to mislead people" about State Route 36 in George Creek.

"Route 36 has been in Allegany County for many, many years, and during the eight years of the McKeldin administration, when the county had a solid Republican delegation at Annapolis, no substantial improvement was made on Route 36 between Frostburg and Westernport," Del. Conlon said.

"Under the present Tawes administration, the improvement of Route 36 between Barton and Westernport has been undertaken, and I can assure all the people of Allegany County that all Democrats elected to the Legislature from this county are heartily in favor of the continued improvement of Route 36 between Frostburg and Westernport, and they will do everything in their power to have these improvements completed during the next four years."

He added that, in his opinion, Democratic representation in the Legislature would be more helpful on this matter than would representation from the opposite party.

William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, spoke on behalf of the local Democratic ticket, and after stressing the records of the Democrats now in office in this county, and the abilities of all the other Democratic candidates, Walsh said:

"The election of local Democrats in this county requires the solid support of all Democrats, and I am confident that the splendid ticket which we have this year merits and will have that support. We also realize that since the Democratic Party is the minority party in Allegany County, the success of local Democratic candidates needs the support of many Republican voters, and we are this year particularly appealing for such support. After all, every voter, whether Democrat or Republican, is interested in good government, and good government requires capable officeholders. We believe that the Democratic candidates this year are unusually well qualified, and we particularly appeal to our open-minded Republican friends and the independent voters of the county to support them," Walsh stated.

"I might add, that in this campaign, we are not attacking anyone, by inference or otherwise, but our candidates are appealing to the voters on their own merits, and I am confident that a large number of Republicans and independents will support them."

Edward J. Ryan spoke on behalf of the Democratic state ticket and Congressional candidates, and he emphasized their experience and their records. He also stressed the fact that Thomas B. Finan of this county, the present Attorney General of Maryland by appointment of Governor Tawes, is the Democratic candidate for attorney general on the Democratic ticket, and he expressed the view that thousands of Republicans in Allegany County would vote for him as a native son, and that Ryan was confident that Finan would carry this county on November 6 "by a very handsome majority."

He further pointed out that Governor Tawes had carried the county by more than three thousand votes in 1958, that he believed he would also carry the county this year, and that he also believed that Louis Goldstein, the Democratic candidate for comptroller, who lost this county by only 232 votes in 1958, would carry the county this year.

Ryan said that the candidacy of Daniel Brewster for U. S. Senator provides the people of Allegany County and the state an opportunity to send to Washington an outstanding legislator.

Brewster served in the House of Delegates of the General Assembly and is currently in his second term in the House of Representatives.

He further stated that John R. Foley, the Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth District, had been elected to Congress in 1958 and lost this county by less than 700 votes, and that with the united support which Foley was receiving from the Democratic Party and from organized labor he was confident that Foley would again make a very strong run in Allegany County, and he predicted his reelection to Congress from this District.

Ryan also called attention to the fact that Carlton Sickles, who is running as the Democratic candidate for Congressman-at-Large in Maryland, had carried this county in the primary, largely through the support of organized labor, and that with the continuance of that support, as well as the full support of the Democratic Party, he too would make a strong run. He also said the Democratic majority in the state as a whole would assure Sickles' election.

James E. Kenny, a member of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County, and a native of Westernport, presided.

Alhambra Unit Activities Announced

Wamba Caravan 89, Order of Alhambra, will open its new year of activities with a spaghetti supper next Sunday in St. Mary's parish hall.

Joseph Divico, newly-elected grand commander of the Caravan, announced the various activities at a meeting of committee chairmen Friday night at his residence.

The spaghetti supper, which is the organization's annual Charity Harvest Festival, will be served from 3 to 7 p. m. in the basement of St. Mary's Church.

Divico said various games will be available, and the supper will be prepared by a group of Italian women from Cumberland.

The caravan's annual Christmas party will be held December 15, with Paul Martin, master of the oasis, in charge of arrangements. The Christmas contest is scheduled for December 21 with Sylvester Shircliff and Frank Altice, past grand commanders, in charge.

The third annual Alhambra Catholic Invitational Basketball Tournament has tentatively been scheduled for March 20, 21, 22 and 23. The affair, which attracted sell-out crowds last year at the Allegany High School gym, features leading Catholic high school teams from Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia. LaSalle High School is host team for the tournament.

Peter J. Carpenti, Joseph Stakem and Divico are co-chairmen of the tournament.

The caravan's annual picnic, held at Bean's Cove, is scheduled for June 23, 1963, with Paul Martin in charge.

The organization's annual reunion has been scheduled for September 6 7 and 8 at the Bedford Springs Hotel.

Election of new officers next year will be on October 14, 1963, with installation slated for October 19. The installation program also includes a cocktail party, dinner and dance.

Cuba: Challenge And Response

It is appropriate that the Cuban crisis should develop in the week that includes the the first anniversary of the tense confrontation of American and Soviet troops in Berlin just a year ago today.

That situation was similarly grim and fraught with danger to both sides and to the world, even though it aroused less excitement, ended quickly, and did not involve a direct American threat to destroy the Soviet Union in the event of an attack from the other side. Such a threat, of course, has been implicit in our Soviet policy for several years. Such an attitude is implicit in the policy of any nation because it is merely a matter of self-defense.

The point, however, is what is and what is not self-defense. Wars generally have been fought in self-defense, if we are to accept the definitions offered by the belligerent nations.

Up until the time of the President's message on Monday of this week, we have been in accord with the restraint the Administration has demonstrated. The arrival of offensive weapons in Cuba does not change the tolal military picture significantly, since the Soviet Union could attack us without using a forward base in Cuba. But it does pose a definite threat to peace, a threat to any American city within range of a Cuban-based missile, and a direct challenge of our will and our determination to defend ourselves in Cuba, in Berlin, and anywhere else where Soviet bloc pressure might be applied. Thus it is a matter, not so much of short-range, immediate self-defense, but of long-range defense as well, to take strong, even dangerous measures which the Kremlin obviously did not expect.

From the point of view of these considerations, both the challenge and the threat to our security have been admirably met by the firm course on which the President has now embarked.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Inevitable War

"It could not be otherwise but that Red China should move step by step toward the conquest of Southeast Asia, including India. This is historic determinism, in which all Chinese believe. There has never been any question but that Chun Kuo—the Middle Kingdom—the center of the universe—must prevail. It is this matter of manifest destiny which gives to the Chinese their peace of mind, their poise.

The widest expansion of China occurred in the dynasty of the Emperor Chienlung (1736-1795). It was a period of prosperity and art. The only census that was ever taken in China was in Chienlung's time.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen, who made China a republic and is regarded by the Chinese people as equal to our own George Washington, delivered a series of lectures which were brought together in a volume "San Min Chu I" which influenced China more than any other factor during the next 40 years.

The second lecture deals with this:

"From ancient times, the increase and the decrease of population has played a large part in the rise and fall of nations. This is the law of natural selection. Since mankind has not been able to resist the forces of natural selection, many ancient and famous nations have disappeared without leaving a trace. Our Chinese nation is one also of great antiquity, with four thousand years of authentic history, and so at least five or six thousand years of actual existence."

In this lecture, Dr. Sun lists the territories which China has lost during the years when the European nations and Japan were "slicing" up the country. Among the countries that Dr. Sun includes are Annam (Vietnam) and Burma; the territorial losses along the Amur and Ussuri Rivers, the Ili and Khokand Rivers (now in Russian territory), Siam, Borneo, the Sulu Archipelago, Java (Indonesia), Ceylon, Nepal and Bhutan.

He said:

"In its age of greatest power, the territory of the Chinese Empire was very large, extending northward to the north of the Amur, southward to the south of the Himalayas, eastward to the China Sea, westward to the T'sung Lin. Nepal in the first year of the Republic was still bringing tribute into Szechwan, and then stopped because of the impassability of the roads through Tibet . . ."

Sun did not approve of imperialism but his definition of China was clearly the expansion of that country during the Chienlung Dynasty. The present war between India and Red China is only a battle in a constant war for the Chienlung line which will give Red China control of the northeastern border of India and will take control of Ladakh, Bhutan and Nepal.

The ownership of Ladakh could give Red China a hold on Kashmir; the possession of Bhutan by Red China would give that country control of the Himalayan passes from Tibet to India; Nepal is a valuable military asset to India which could be neutralized by Red China. The ultimate program is to reach the Bay of Bengal. This would eliminate India as a factor in Indian Ocean affairs.

Again in his fourth lecture, Dr. Sun raised this question:

"I was in Canton setting up the constitutional government. One day the British consul came to the headquarters of the commander in chief to see me and to discuss with me the possibility of the Southern Government joining the Entente and sending troops to Europe. I asked the British consul, 'Why should we send troops?' He replied: 'To fight Germany . . .' I said: 'Tsingtau is rather far away from Canton. What about the place nearest to us—Hongkong . . . China hasn't sufficient strength at present to recover her lost territory; if she did, perhaps she might first take back what Great Britain has usurped . . .'"

Sun Yat-sen incorporated this doctrine into a positive revolutionary force. Although he opposed imperialism, his statement as to the meaning of Chinese Nationalism revived the desire for those countries which Great Britain held, that is Tibet and India and the countries which lie on the border. Already Tibet is held by Red China. The movement toward the Bay of Bengal can only be stopped by war or by a revolution by a starving people. Those who have only death to gain by another means do not often revolt.

Nehru understood all this. He sought to placate and appease Red China. It was futile.

Out Of The Sickbed

American Posture Crux Of Cuban Crisis

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The strongest argument for the grim decision the President announced on Monday was not any of those which are being most widely repeated.

The problem of Castro was pressing, of course. It was utterly unacceptable, of course, for Soviet offensive missiles to be emplaced in Cuba.

But this kind of Soviet use of Fidel Castro, and the resulting gain in Soviet nuclear striking power, were not the true essence of the problem. As the President more than hinted in his remarkable speech to the nation, the true essence of the problem was the American posture vis-a-vis the Soviet Union.

The President long argued, as reported in this space, that the painful irritant in Cuba has to be subordinated to the grave and present danger at Berlin. But this argument lost its validity on Tuesday morning a week ago when the President, while still in bed, received the news that Soviet medium and intermediate range ballistic missiles were being hastily emplaced on Cuban soil.

At that moment, the Cuban problem and the Berlin problem merged together, into a single problem. The reason for this sudden merger, as you think about the circumstances, was very simple, indeed.

In his Cuban press conference in September, the President said that the Soviet military effort in Cuba required no American action, so long as the purpose was plainly defensive. But almost in the same breath, he added that American action would have to be considered if the Cuban build-up assumed an offensive character.

The significance of this statement was well understood by the Kremlin, as indicated by the facts summarized by the President on Monday. The official Soviet press hastened to answer the President with reassuring statements that the aim of Soviet "aid" to Cuba was purely to increase Cuba's defensive strength.

Thereafter, the Soviet Ambassador in Washington, Anatoly Dobrynin, repeatedly swore to leading personages in the U. S. government that ballistic missiles would never be emplaced in Cuba. With smooth perfidy, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave the President the same assurance when the contrary evidence was already in the President's hand.

All the while, quite naturally, the Kremlin was well aware that American U-2s and other instruments of surveillance would inevitably reveal the true state of affairs to the U. S. government, as soon as the ballistic missiles began to be emplaced on their Cuban sites. Hence passive acceptance of the accomplished fact that the Kremlin was seeking to create in Cuba would have transformed the President's September warning into the weakest and emptiest sort of bluff.

Precisely because of the grave danger at Berlin, and for many other reasons as well, the United States and its President cannot afford to be regarded by the Kremlin as braggarts and bluffers. President Kennedy has pursued a policy of careful moderation—so careful, indeed, that it was provoking partisan attack before his speech to the nation on Monday. But he has not bluffed.

There were half a score of other reasons why the new development in Cuba could not be tolerated, above all, because flabby toleration of this arrogant defiance of the President's September warning would have automatically devalued to zero-minus all his past warnings to the Soviets about Berlin and every other world problem.

A passive response to this new challenge would in fact have invited an immediate Soviet attack on Berlin's freedom, and the kind of naked, carelessly defiant Soviet attack, moreover, that would leave no alternative except retaliation with H-bombs on the Soviet Union.

The English New Statesman and Nation once argued that the Korean war was all our fault, because our prior disarmament had in effect assured the Soviets that they could launch an aggression in Korea with impunity. In a twisted sort of way there was more validity in this argument than in most New Statesman arguments.

The argument's application in the present case, to Berlin as well as to all the other places the Soviets would like to have a crack at, is only too clear and apparent. Hence the stand has been taken. The brave and necessary thing has been done.

What riposte may follow, none can say at this writing. But all must give thanks that the challenge was not shirked, and all must pray, too, that the Kremlin at last clearly understands the American determination not to falter or submit, which the acceptance of the challenge so plainly implies.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

LETTERS—If you're 92 years old and break your hip while trying to turn up the television so you can better hear the President, you may receive a personal "get well" reply from Mr. Kennedy.

Or if yours is the 50th letter to arrive at any time, you also will receive a reply from the Chief Executive.

But outside of that, your chances of writing to the President and receiving a personal reply are pretty slim, for Mr. Kennedy receives 12,000 to 30,000 letters each week and obviously cannot answer all of them.

Letters that are sent to the President go through a screening proeess that insures that only a comparatively few will get to the Chief Executive for his personal attention. One that did reach him was from a Pennsylvania woman who wrote the President that her 92-year-old mother "really fell for you." In getting off her couch to turn up the television, she fell and broke her hip.

The President wrote the invalid that "because of your great courage, cheerfulness and interest in current events, I feel sure you can cope with your situation and make a fine recovery." To this he added a personal postscript of "Get well."

Backstage Debate On Cuba Bases Precedes JFK's 'Get Tough' Policy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Here is some of the backstage debate which preceded the President's history-making decision to take a tough policy toward Cuba.

It began about the time Under Secretary of State George Ball gave a report to the House Select Committee on Export Control, October 3, outlining Cuba's new weapons imports as purely defensive.

Ball did not list any intermediate or long-range missiles in the shipments which Moscow had sent to Fidel Castro. And he was so specific in listing the defensive weapons that some observers, notably Walter Lippmann, went out on a limb in good faith and reported: "We do not have to guess about what is being landed in Cuban ports. We know. And anyone who chooses to question the basis of our present policy (of no intervention) must begin by proving the intelligence estimates wrong."

At the time Under Secretary Ball testified, however, and well before the President's announcement of intermediate range missile bases on Cuba, U. S. intelligence did have reports of such missiles, also of long-range bombers in Cuba. Ball's testimony caused considerable comment in the Pentagon, and copies of the intelligence reports were leaked to certain key Congressmen, among them Speaker John McCormack.

The Speaker thereupon became quietly active in pushing for a firmer policy by the administration.

Ball and to the President, it Ball and to the President ,it should be noted that intelligence reports are not always black and white. However, there was sufficient reason to believe that offensive missile bases were being constructed on Cuba for a great deal of confidential discussion to be generated over Ball's report to Congress.

Rusk's Policy

Up until this time, the Kennedy policy in regard to Cuba, as formulated by Secretary of State Rusk, was as follows:

1. There was to be no invasion or blockade of Cuba.

2. There was to be heavy pressure on Cuba's economy.

3. All means were to be taken to stop the export of Cuban Communism to other parts of Latin America.

4. The United States would make Soviet support for Castro very expensive at a time when the Soviet economy was hurting.

This was the official policy of the United States until last Thursday, October 18, two days before the President cut short his Western campaign and returned to Washington.

What caused the change, essentially were the arguments of McGeorge Bundy, the Harvard professor imported to serve as Kennedy's national security assistant. Bundy, related by marriage to ex-Secretary of State Dean Acheson, has sometimes been in disagreement with Dean Rusk, and the disagreement over Cuba came to a head last week.

Bundy made two recommendations to the President:

Bundy's Policy

A.) The United States had to convince Moscow that it meant business. As long as we appeared weak or vacillating, he argued, the Kremlin would continue to push. Bundy compared the Kremline to Hitler, who thought the Allies were weak and kept pushing into final war.

B.) Bundy argued that the United States had always been reacting to Soviet moves in the past, and it was time to have the Soviet react to our moves. We should put Moscow on the defensive.

Secretary Rusk, on the other hand, argued that by applying continued pressure and getting more Latin-American support we would gradually win in Cuba without military intervention. He pointed first to the deteriorating condition of the Cuban economy; second, to the fact that Latin-American liberals like President Betancourt of Venezuela had swung strongly to our support.

His policy was working, Rusk said, and there was no reason to change it. However, Bundy won the argument, which is why Rusk told intimates that if Bundy were going to be Secretary of State in fact, he might as well have the job in name. They have now reconciled their personal differences.

LBJ Clinches Argument

Rusk and his State Department supporters also argued that Cuba is not a military threat to the United States; that only Russia is. By turning Cuba into a base, Cuba could be a threat—but only if Russia attacked the United States. Cuba alone, despite all its Russian buildup, would never be a threat—unless Russia attacked at the same time.

And if Russia attacks, it was pointed out, the attack would come directly from Soviet long-range missiles at 300 U. S. cities simultaneously. Attacks from Cuban missile bases alone would be too ineffective. Even if accompanied by an attack from Russian subs off the Florida coast, this would be a flea-bite compared with a full-scale barrage from the Russian mainland.

All these arguments were considered, but in the end what really tipped the scales were political factors, including a report from Vice President Johnson that Cuba was causing great damage to the Democrats in the election campaign and that the public was getting the impression that Kennedy was indecisive.

The President himself had detected this and was gloomy about the prospect of losing the governorship battles in the big key states of New York, Michigan, Ohio and California, which could start a disastrous trend for 1964.

This, plus the decision to keep Russia on the defensive, were the real reasons for the historic decision on Cuba. Military fear of Cuba actually had very little at all to do with it.

Dupuytren's Contracture Cause Not Known

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Dupuytren's contracture is a hand condition that often is blamed on heavy manual labor. Lumps form on the palm and, in time, the little, ring, and middle fingers are bent and drawn up, giving the hand a clawlike appearance.

At first glance, the deformity appears to stem from a shortening or contraction of the tendons that bend or flex the fingers. But when a corrective operation is done, the surgeons find the tendons normal. The fault lies in the strong sheath of tissue (palmar fascial located between the thick skin of the palm, and the tendons of the hands.

For some reason, this fibrous tissue thickens to produce the deformity. The initial millet seed lesion often enlarges until it reaches the size of a green pea. It may extend over the palm or remain stationary. Surgery is recommended when the swellings are painful or produce contractures. The latter does not always occur.

Working men blame their occupation because it seems a logical cause. But careful studies reveal this is not true. The deformity is found in office workers as well as laborers and it affects both hands in more than half the cases. Furthermore, the place where the palm of the hand is in contact with tools seldom is affected.

More recently, an Australian surgeon, Dr. J. T. Hueston, reported on 220 patients he treated. in 20, the condition progressed during periods of inactivity. This goes along with another study in which the contractures got worse when the individuals developed other illnesses and became invalids.

Dr. Hueston gathered statistics on 6,022 hospitalized patients and noted that the incidence of Dupuytren's contracture was no higher in a group of manual laborers than in officer workers. But the number of alcoholics and epileptics with the disorder was much greater than in the general population.

The cause continues to escape detection but the lesion could be tumor-like tissue involving the palmar fascia. In addition, there appears to be a family background which is in keeping with the view that it is a special type of growth.

SINUS DISEASE

M. M. writes: How is sinus infection diagnosed?

REPLY

An acute infection is associated with fever, nasal congestion, and severe pain over the blocked sinus. X-rays at this time reveal the abnormality. Large amounts of pus escape when the affected passageway opens or the sinus is washed out. X-rays are helpful in diagnosing chronic sinusitis in which there may be less well defined symptoms.

BOILS AT 60

K. T. writes: I'm 60 years old and never had a boil in my life until a month ago. Two weeks later, I had another. What would bring on these things at my age?

REPLY

Age is not a factor and boils are notorious for coming in crops. They are staphylococcal infections.

STRONG BLOOD

E. B. writes: Does taking a tonic make more blood or does it just make the blood stronger?

REPLY

It does neither. Iron and liver tonics may cause the hemoglobin and red cell count to rise in anemia. But blood never gets stronger, even after exercising or eating limburger cheese.

ALCOHOL RUBS

R. W. G. writes: Is a daily alcohol rub safe for the skin?

REPLY

Yes. The alcohol is not absorbed and the massage improves circulation, relaxes the muscles, and feels good.

BONE DEAFNESS

Mrs. J. S. writes: Since otosclerosis is a progressive loss of hearing, how long does it take to get completely deaf?

REPLY

It varies with the individual and with each ear. Deafness may progress slowly or rapidly or become inactive.

TOMORROW: Pneumonic and bumonic plague.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

There's a story about an elementary school teacher who tried to explain to her pupils the difference between "good" and "well." "There was a man," she stated, "who went to Hawaii as a missionary a century ago. He went there to do good. While he was there, he also bought up lots of land for next to nothing and began to grow pineapples. So you see, pupils, while he went to Hawaii to do good, he also did well."

Herb Stein reports that this is an effective story to use at a fund-raising banquet. He uses it again and again, concluding with, "Gentlemen, it's obvious that everyone at this dinner has done well. Now how about doing good?" The results are uniformly magical.

A lady novelist confesses that she was cured of cheating when she was a pig-tailed brat in a one-room Ozark schoolhouse. One question on an exam demanded, "Tell what you know about Benedict Arnold." She whispered to her seatmate, "Help me out on this one." The seatmate whispered back an answer which she promptly wrote on her exam paper. It read, "Benedict Arnold was a trader."

Once upon a time, legend has it, there were two tiny grains of sand in the paleozoic ooze. One of the grains was possessed of curiosity, and the result is mankind. The other had no curiosity at all—and the result, today, is the oyster.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

One more autumn. One more and my little world stuns the eye with color. The green of summer deepens in September. The silver spearing still swim in swarms near the dock, scattering like a thousand spinning dimes when a stone is dropped

The sun is still hot and brassy. But not in late Otcober. Oh, no. Now it blushes in the chill wind and the spearing are gone and a sea gull sits on the piling looking looking moodily at the tide.

Across the river, the big pin oaks have held onto the russet as long as they can, and the north wind comes down cold and tears the brittle leaves and sends them in red and yellow maelstroms down the street. In the morning, there is a smell of woodsmoke. Windows are boarded up and the vacationers have gone. A rosebush, bright with deep flame last June, now hums a funeral march as the wind keens on the thistles.

It is a time of sweet sadness, a time to remember the long hot days, the crowds on the beach, the billowing sailboats sedate and fat, the struggle of a big tuna fighting a losing battle against a sixty-pound test line under the sea, coveys of little girls in bright frocks, all talking and walking at once, the long skinny legs threshing like scissors. It is a time to remember the sharp crack of a bat on a ball, the twang of a racquet in a sharp serve, the arc of a golf ball, a tiny blemish on a blue sky, a trout gasping for breath in a net, the cry of a baby on a hot night.

The leaves burn in small tepees on the lawn, the gray smoke rising thick and straight in the crisp air, then being smudged flat over the bare trees. There are orange pumpkins stacked on farms, and the good mares stick their heads out of the barns at dawn, to sniff the frost and run like wild silly women to the few spots where the grass is still thick.

It is autumn and, if this is a time of dying, there is peace and beauty in death, too. It is a time when the gray squirrel races halfway up the elm, and stops in granite imagery to think. The deer pause at a stream, lifting their heads together, the water still dripping silvery from their mouths, to ask why the silence. Why has everything stopped? Where is the din of all the automobiles, the shout of the picnickers, the clink of glasses, the buzz of bees, the dry rattle of skunks skulking under bushes? Where has everything gone?

The silence roars the rhythm of the heart. Down on the beach, the sand is flat and trackless. An old timber is slowly buried by the waves, washed and scoured with an ancient detergent. The sea is flat and blue. Half under the edge, a freighter moves south with a small bone in its teeth. Aboard the lightship, lonely men polish brass and set the light for the night.

On the boardwalk, an elderly couple walk with heads down against the wind. A sign proclaims a big round of miniature golf for thirty-five cents, but no one sees it now. The ferris wheel, in mid-flight, is stopped, the high cars swaying slightly. The street is deserted except for a police car, which moves slowly because here is nothing to kill but time.

The sunset is magenta, and the clouds, gray and humorless in the cold, pick up the warm colors and daub themselves with garnet and yellow and rifts of pale green, like circus clowns hiding old wrinkles under new makeup. But the sun has no loyalty and it leaves them sneakily, and now the clouds are black streaks on a pastel background, the crayon revenge of a pouting child.

Night comes more quickly. Now, on the far side of the river, the darkness is punctuated by double quotation marks as lights go on in many windows. The thermometer outside the window, which has pointed at the figure 50 all day, begins its slow retreat. The oil burner turns on and, for a moment, the house throbs with a pulse of its own.

Wild ducks quack in the marshes and the tall reeds bend in waves. Venus sparkles like a spurious diamond in the west and ignores the winking red firefly as a jet swings in toward Idlewild. The tide comes in slowly and the river swells its dark chest against the banks.

A thousand sparrows, heading south, repose in the stiff trees—the same motel they used last year. The coach lights out front shiver in the night wind and the petunias around the fountain rattle drily. I stick my hands in my pockets and turn to go back into the house.

There is no more to see. This is autumn, a time for the first log fires, a time for reading a book, a time for dipping the fingers in the nut dish, a time for feeling drowsy early. A time, let me say, of sweet sadness and remembering . . .

Cuba: Challenge And Response

It is appropriate that the Cuban crisis should develop in the week that includes the the first anniversary of the tense confrontation of American and Soviet troops in Berlin just a year ago today.

That situation was similarly grim and fraught with danger to both sides and to the world, even though it aroused less excitement, ended quickly, and did not involve a direct American threat to destroy the Soviet Union in the event of an attack from the other side. Such a threat, of course, has been implicit in our Soviet policy for several years. Such an attitude is implicit in the policy of any nation because it is merely a matter of self-defense.

The point, however, is what is and what is not self-defense. Wars generally have been fought in self-defense, if we are to accept the definitions offered by the belligerent nations.

Up until the time of the President's message on Monday of this week, we have been in accord with the restraint the Administration has demonstrated. The arrival of offensive weapons in Cuba does not change the tolal military picture significantly, since the Soviet Union could attack us without using a forward base in Cuba. But it does pose a definite threat to peace, a threat to any American city within range of a Cuban-based missile, and a direct challenge of our will and our determination to defend ourselves in Cuba, in Berlin, and anywhere else where Soviet bloc pressure might be applied. Thus it is a matter, not so much of short-range, immediate self-defense, but of long-range defense as well, to take strong, even dangerous measures which the Kremlin obviously did not expect.

From the point of view of these considerations, both the challenge and the threat to our security have been admirably met by the firm course on which the President has now embarked.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Inevitable War

"It could not be otherwise but that Red China should move step by step toward the conquest of Southeast Asia, including India. This is historic determinism, in which all Chinese believe. There has never been any question but that Chun Kuo—the Middle Kingdom—the center of the universe—must prevail. It is this matter of manifest destiny which gives to the Chinese their peace of mind, their poise.

The widest expansion of China occurred in the dynasty of the Emperor Chienlung (1736-1795). It was a period of prosperity and art. The only census that was ever taken in China was in Chienlung's time.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen, who made China a republic and is regarded by the Chinese people as equal to our own George Washington, delivered a series of lectures which were brought together in a volume "San Min Chu I" which influenced China more than any other factor during the next 40 years.

The second lecture deals with this:

"From ancient times, the increase and the decrease of population has played a large part in the rise and fall of nations. This is the law of natural selection. Since mankind has not been able to resist the forces of natural selection, many ancient and famous nations have disappeared without leaving a trace. Our Chinese nation is one also of great antiquity, with four thousand years of authentic history, and so at least five or six thousand years of actual existence."

In this lecture, Dr. Sun lists the territories which China has lost during the years when the European nations and Japan were "slicing" up the country. Among the countries that Dr. Sun includes are Annam (Vietnam) and Burma; the territorial losses along the Amur and Ussuri Rivers, the Ili and Khokand Rivers (now in Russian territory), Siam, Borneo, the Sulu Archipelago, Java (Indonesia), Ceylon, Nepal and Bhutan.

He said:

"In its age of greatest power, the territory of the Chinese Empire was very large, extending northward to the north of the Amur, southward to the south of the Himalayas, eastward to the China Sea, westward to the T'sung Lin. Nepal in the first year of the Republic was still bringing tribute into Szechwan, and then stopped because of the impassability of the roads through Tibet . . ."

Sun did not approve of imperialism but his definition of China was clearly the expansion of that country during the Chienlung Dynasty. The present war between India and Red China is only a battle in a constant war for the Chienlung line which will give Red China control of the northeastern border of India and will take control of Ladakh, Bhutan and Nepal.

The ownership of Ladakh could give Red China a hold on Kashmir; the possession of Bhutan by Red China would give that country control of the Himalayan passes from Tibet to India; Nepal is a valuable military asset to India which could be neutralized by Red China. The ultimate program is to reach the Bay of Bengal. This would eliminate India as a factor in Indian Ocean affairs.

Again in his fourth lecture, Dr. Sun raised this question:

"I was in Canton setting up the constitutional government. One day the British consul came to the headquarters of the commander in chief to see me and to discuss with me the possibility of the Southern Government joining the Entente and sending troops to Europe. I asked the British consul, 'Why should we send troops?' He replied: 'To fight Germany . . .' I said: 'Tsingtau is rather far away from Canton. What about the place nearest to us—Hongkong . . . China hasn't sufficient strength at present to recover her lost territory; if she did, perhaps she might first take back what Great Britain has usurped . . .'"

Sun Yat-sen incorporated this doctrine into a positive revolutionary force. Although he opposed imperialism, his statement as to the meaning of Chinese Nationalism revived the desire for those countries which Great Britain held, that is Tibet and India and the countries which lie on the border. Already Tibet is held by Red China. The movement toward the Bay of Bengal can only be stopped by war or by a revolution by a starving people. Those who have only death to gain by another means do not often revolt.

Nehru understood all this. He sought to placate and appease Red China. It was futile.

Out Of The Sickbed

American Posture Crux Of Cuban Crisis

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The strongest argument for the grim decision the President announced on Monday was not any of those which are being most widely repeated.

The problem of Castro was pressing, of course. It was utterly unacceptable, of course, for Soviet offensive missiles to be emplaced in Cuba.

But this kind of Soviet use of Fidel Castro, and the resulting gain in Soviet nuclear striking power, were not the true essence of the problem. As the President more than hinted in his remarkable speech to the nation, the true essence of the problem was the American posture vis-a-vis the Soviet Union.

The President long argued, as reported in this space, that the painful irritant in Cuba has to be subordinated to the grave and present danger at Berlin. But this argument lost its validity on Tuesday morning a week ago when the President, while still in bed, received the news that Soviet medium and intermediate range ballistic missiles were being hastily emplaced on Cuban soil.

At that moment, the Cuban problem and the Berlin problem merged together, into a single problem. The reason for this sudden merger, as you think about the circumstances, was very simple, indeed.

In his Cuban press conference in September, the President said that the Soviet military effort in Cuba required no American action, so long as the purpose was plainly defensive. But almost in the same breath, he added that American action would have to be considered if the Cuban build-up assumed an offensive character.

The significance of this statement was well understood by the Kremlin, as indicated by the facts summarized by the President on Monday. The official Soviet press hastened to answer the President with reassuring statements that the aim of Soviet "aid" to Cuba was purely to increase Cuba's defensive strength.

Thereafter, the Soviet Ambassador in Washington, Anatoly Dobrynin, repeatedly swore to leading personages in the U. S. government that ballistic missiles would never be emplaced in Cuba. With smooth perfidy, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave the President the same assurance when the contrary evidence was already in the President's hand.

All the while, quite naturally, the Kremlin was well aware that American U-2s and other instruments of surveillance would inevitably reveal the true state of affairs to the U. S. government, as soon as the ballistic missiles began to be emplaced on their Cuban sites. Hence passive acceptance of the accomplished fact that the Kremlin was seeking to create in Cuba would have transformed the President's September warning into the weakest and emptiest sort of bluff.

Precisely because of the grave danger at Berlin, and for many other reasons as well, the United States and its President cannot afford to be regarded by the Kremlin as braggarts and bluffers. President Kennedy has pursued a policy of careful moderation—so careful, indeed, that it was provoking partisan attack before his speech to the nation on Monday. But he has not bluffed.

There were half a score of other reasons why the new development in Cuba could not be tolerated, above all, because flabby toleration of this arrogant defiance of the President's September warning would have automatically devalued to zero-minus all his past warnings to the Soviets about Berlin and every other world problem.

A passive response to this new challenge would in fact have invited an immediate Soviet attack on Berlin's freedom, and the kind of naked, carelessly defiant Soviet attack, moreover, that would leave no alternative except retaliation with H-bombs on the Soviet Union.

The English New Statesman and Nation once argued that the Korean war was all our fault, because our prior disarmament had in effect assured the Soviets that they could launch an aggression in Korea with impunity. In a twisted sort of way there was more validity in this argument than in most New Statesman arguments.

The argument's application in the present case, to Berlin as well as to all the other places the Soviets would like to have a crack at, is only too clear and apparent. Hence the stand has been taken. The brave and necessary thing has been done.

What riposte may follow, none can say at this writing. But all must give thanks that the challenge was not shirked, and all must pray, too, that the Kremlin at last clearly understands the American determination not to falter or submit, which the acceptance of the challenge so plainly implies.

Backstage Debate On Cuba Bases Precedes JFK's 'Get Tough' Policy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Here is some of the backstage debate which preceded the President's history-making decision to take a tough policy toward Cuba.

It began about the time Under Secretary of State George Ball gave a report to the House Select Committee on Export Control, October 3, outlining Cuba's new weapons imports as purely defensive.

Ball did not list any intermediate or long-range missiles in the shipments which Moscow had sent to Fidel Castro. And he was so specific in listing the defensive weapons that some observers, notably Walter Lippmann, went out on a limb in good faith and reported: "We do not have to guess about what is being landed in Cuban ports. We know. And anyone who chooses to question the basis of our present policy (of no intervention) must begin by proving the intelligence estimates wrong."

At the time Under Secretary Ball testified, however, and well before the President's announcement of intermediate range missile bases on Cuba, U. S. intelligence did have reports of such missiles, also of long-range bombers in Cuba. Ball's testimony caused considerable comment in the Pentagon, and copies of the intelligence reports were leaked to certain key Congressmen, among them Speaker John McCormack.

The Speaker thereupon became quietly active in pushing for a firmer policy by the administration.

Ball and to the President, it Ball and to the President ,it should be noted that intelligence reports are not always black and white. However, there was sufficient reason to believe that offensive missile bases were being constructed on Cuba for a great deal of confidential discussion to be generated over Ball's report to Congress.

Rusk's Policy

Up until this time, the Kennedy policy in regard to Cuba, as formulated by Secretary of State Rusk, was as follows:

1. There was to be no invasion or blockade of Cuba.

2. There was to be heavy pressure on Cuba's economy.

3. All means were to be taken to stop the export of Cuban Communism to other parts of Latin America.

4. The United States would make Soviet support for Castro very expensive at a time when the Soviet economy was hurting.

This was the official policy of the United States until last Thursday, October 18, two days before the President cut short his Western campaign and returned to Washington.

What caused the change, essentially were the arguments of McGeorge Bundy, the Harvard professor imported to serve as Kennedy's national security assistant. Bundy, related by marriage to ex-Secretary of State Dean Acheson, has sometimes been in disagreement with Dean Rusk, and the disagreement over Cuba came to a head last week.

Bundy made two recommendations to the President:

Bundy's Policy

A.) The United States had to convince Moscow that it meant business. As long as we appeared weak or vacillating, he argued, the Kremlin would continue to push. Bundy compared the Kremline to Hitler, who thought the Allies were weak and kept pushing into final war.

B.) Bundy argued that the United States had always been reacting to Soviet moves in the past, and it was time to have the Soviet react to our moves. We should put Moscow on the defensive.

Secretary Rusk, on the other hand, argued that by applying continued pressure and getting more Latin-American support we would gradually win in Cuba without military intervention. He pointed first to the deteriorating condition of the Cuban economy; second, to the fact that Latin-American liberals like President Betancourt of Venezuela had swung strongly to our support.

His policy was working, Rusk said, and there was no reason to change it. However, Bundy won the argument, which is why Rusk told intimates that if Bundy were going to be Secretary of State in fact, he might as well have the job in name. They have now reconciled their personal differences.

LBJ Clinches Argument

Rusk and his State Department supporters also argued that Cuba is not a military threat to the United States; that only Russia is. By turning Cuba into a base, Cuba could be a threat—but only if Russia attacked the United States. Cuba alone, despite all its Russian buildup, would never be a threat—unless Russia attacked at the same time.

And if Russia attacks, it was pointed out, the attack would come directly from Soviet long-range missiles at 300 U. S. cities simultaneously. Attacks from Cuban missile bases alone would be too ineffective. Even if accompanied by an attack from Russian subs off the Florida coast, this would be a flea-bite compared with a full-scale barrage from the Russian mainland.

All these arguments were considered, but in the end what really tipped the scales were political factors, including a report from Vice President Johnson that Cuba was causing great damage to the Democrats in the election campaign and that the public was getting the impression that Kennedy was indecisive.

The President himself had detected this and was gloomy about the prospect of losing the governorship battles in the big key states of New York, Michigan, Ohio and California, which could start a disastrous trend for 1964.

This, plus the decision to keep Russia on the defensive, were the real reasons for the historic decision on Cuba. Military fear of Cuba actually had very little at all to do with it.

LETTERS—If you're 92 years old and break your hip while trying to turn up the television so you can better hear the President, you may receive a personal "get well" reply from Mr. Kennedy.

Or if yours is the 50th letter to arrive at any time, you also will receive a reply from the Chief Executive.

But outside of that, your chances of writing to the President and receiving a personal reply are pretty slim, for Mr. Kennedy receives 12,000 to 30,000 letters each week and obviously cannot answer all of them.

Letters that are sent to the President go through a screening process that insures that only a comparatively few will get to the Chief Executive for his personal attention. One that did reach him was from a Pennsylvania woman who wrote the President that her 92-year-old mother "really fell for you." In getting off her couch to turn up the television, she fell and broke her hip.

The President wrote the invalid that "because of your great courage, cheerfulness and interest in current events, I feel sure you can cope with your situation and make a fine recovery." To this he added a personal postscript of "Get well."

One more autumn. One more and my little world stuns the eye with color. The green of summer deepens in September. The silver spearing still swim in swarms near the dock, scattering like a thousand spinning dimes when a stone is dropped

The sun is still hot and brassy. But not in late Otcober. Oh, no. Now it blushes in the chill wind and the spearing are gone and a sea gull sits on the piling looking looking moodily at the tide.

Across the river, the big pin oaks have held onto the russet as long as they can, and the north wind comes down cold and tears the brittle leaves and sends them in red and yellow maelstroms down the street. In the morning, there is a smell of woodsmoke. Windows are boarded up and the vacationers have gone. A rosebush, bright with deep flame last June, now hums a funeral march as the wind keens on the thistles.

It is a time of sweet sadness, a time to remember the long hot days, the crowds on the beach, the billowing sailboats sedate and fat, the struggle of a big tuna fighting a losing battle against a sixty-pound test line under the sea, coveys of little girls in bright frocks, all talking and walking at once, the long skinny legs threshing like scissors. Dupuytren's Contracture Cause Not Known

Dupuytren's contracture is a hand condition that often is blamed on heavy manual labor. Lumps form on the palm and, in time, the little, ring, and middle fingers are bent and drawn up, giving the hand a clawlike appearance.

At first glance, the deformity appears to stem from a shortening or contraction of the tendons that bend or flex the fingers. But when a corrective operation is done, the surgeons find the tendons normal. The fault lies in the strong sheath of tissue (palmar fascial located between the thick skin of the palm and the tendons of the hands.

For some reason, this fibrous tissue thickens to produce the deformity. The initial millet seed lesion often enlarges until it reaches the size of a green pea. It may extend over the palm or remain stationary. Surgery is recommended when the swellings are painful or produce contractures. The latter does not always occur.

Working men blame their occupation because it seems a logical cause. But careful studies reveal this is not true. The deformity is found in office workers as well as laborers and it affects both hands in more than half the cases. Furthermore, the place where the palm of the hand is in contact with tools seldom is affected.

More recently, an Australian surgeon, Dr. J. T. Hueston, reported on 220 patients he treated. in 20, the condition progressed during periods of inactivity. This goes along with another study in which the contractures got worse when the individuals developed other illnesses and became invalids.

Dr. Hueston gathered statistics on 6,022 hospitalized patients and noted that the incidence of Dupuytren's contracture was no higher in a group of manual laborers than in officer workers. But the number of alcoholics and epileptics with the disorder was much greater than in the general population.

The cause continues to escape detection but the lesion could be tumor-like tissue involving the palmar fascia. In addition, there appears to be a family background which is in keeping with the view that it is a special type of growth.

SINUS DISEASE

M. M. writes: How is sinus infection diagnosed?

REPLY

An acute infection is associated with fever, nasal congestion, and severe pain over the blocked sinus. X-rays at this time reveal the abnormality. Large amounts of pus escape when the affected passageway opens or the sinus is washed out. X-rays are helpful in diagnosing chronic sinusitis in which there may be less well defined symptoms.

BOILS AT 60

K. T. writes: I'm 60 years old and never had a boil in my life until a month ago. Two weeks later, I had another. What would bring on these things at my age?

REPLY

Age is not a factor and boils are notorious for coming in crops. They are staphylococcal infections.

STRONG BLOOD

E. B. writes: Does taking a tonic make more blood or does it just make the blood stronger?

REPLY

It does neither. Iron and liver tonics may cause the hemoglobin and red cell count to rise in anemia. But blood never gets stronger, even after exercising or eating limburger cheese.

ALCOHOL RUBS

R. W. G. writes: Is a daily alcohol rub safe for the skin?

REPLY

Yes. The alcohol is not absorbed and the massage improves circulation, relaxes the muscles, and feels good.

BONE DEAFNESS

Mrs. J. S. writes: Since otosclerosis is a progressive loss of hearing, how long does it take to get completely deaf?

REPLY

It varies with the individual and with each ear. Deafness may progress slowly or rapidly or become inactive.

TOMORROW: Pneumonic and bumonic plague.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

There's a story about an elementary school teacher who tried to explain to her pupils the difference between "good" and "well." "There was a man," she stated, "who went to Hawaii as a missionary a century ago. He went there to do good. While he was there, he also bought up lots of land for next to nothing and began to grow pineapples. So you see, pupils, while he went to Hawaii to do good, he also did well."

Herb Stein reports that this is an effective story to use at a fund-raising banquet. He uses it again and again, concluding with, "Gentlemen, it's obvious that everyone at this dinner has done well. Now how about doing good?" The results are uniformly magical.

A lady novelist confesses that she was cured of cheating when she was a pig-tailed brat in a one-room Ozark schoolhouse. One question on an exam demanded, "Tell what you know about Benedict Arnold." She whispered to her seatmate, "Help me out on this one." The seatmate whispered back an answer which she promptly wrote on her exam paper. It read, "Benedict Arnold was a trader."

Once upon a time, legend has it, there were two tiny grains of sand in the paleozoic ooze. One of the grains was possessed of curiosity, and the result is mankind. The other had no curiosity at all—and the result, today, is the oyster.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was flabbergasted at your vicious and irresponsible remarks about high school sororities. You attacked without bothering to state your reasons. I think this both outrageous and unjust.

I loved my high school sorority. It afforded me the opportunity to make many fine friendships. I still keep in touch with some of my sorority sisters. The association gave me a confidence and poise. It taught me how to get along with other girls. I hope my daughter is accepted by the same sorority when she attends high school.

If you are fair you will print this letter and while you're at it, please state your reasons for your strong opposition to high school sororities.

—HAPPY MEMORIES

DEAR MEMORIES: I am violently opposed to high school clubs which can deny membership to students for reasons other than scholastic standing.

In my opinion, no organization should be tolerated in a tax-supported high school which can discriminate against a student because he is not white, Protestant, good-looking, well-dressed, or because he does not live in the "right" part of town.

The only aristocracy which should be recognized and rewarded in the public school system is the aristocracy of achievement.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the big city female who criticized the Montana women for going downtown in riding pants and western wear just burned me up. I'll bet both this gal and her husband go downtown in Bermuda shorts. No one around these parts would be caught dead in such apparel.

Levis, boots, western shirts and suede jackets are as much in vogue in the West as skirts are out east. If I wore jeans in the lobby of the St. Regis Hotel in New York, she might have a legitimate complaint. But some of us gals ride a horse to town to attend to family business. We'd look pretty silly astride that horse in a Trigere suit.

Western clothes are in the tradition of the West. If the ritzy lady from the East doesn't like what she sees in Montana, she ought to go back where the sights are more to her taste.

—BILLINGS BABE

DEAR BABE: Thanks for defending the wonderful West Similar cries of "Unfair" came from Texas, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming. But the Montana gals screamed the loudest.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's youngest sister was married last week. He was invited to be in the wedding party. He was told to wear a tuxedo which he had to go out and rent. This cost him $12.50.

The groom makes as much money as my husband. He doesn't have three children to support. He also didn't have to travel almost 300 miles to the wedding—nor did he have to buy a gift.

My husband was sure the groom or the bride would offer to pay for the rental of his tuxedo, but they did not. Now my husband thinks he ought to come right out and ask them for the money. Honestly I just couldn't let him do it.

Please print this letter so other bridal couples will know that when they ask people to be in their wedding party they should pay their expenses. Thank you.

—REDDING, CALIF.

DEAR REDDING: This will come as a shock to you, but when people accept "the honor" of being in a wedding party they are supposed to pay their own expenses. This includes renting suits, travel, hotel, and yes—a gift.

It is customary for the groom to present each of his attendants with a remembrance, but that's all.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was flabbergasted at your vicious and irresponsible remarks about high school sororities. You attacked without bothering to state your reasons. I think this both outrageous and unjust.

I loved my high school sorority. It afforded me the opportunity to make many fine friendships. I still keep in touch with some of my sorority sisters. The association gave me a confidence and poise. It taught me how to get along with other girls. I hope my daughter is accepted by the same sorority when she attends high school.

If you are fair you will print this letter and while you're at it, please state your reasons for your strong opposition to high school sororities.

—HAPPY MEMORIES

DEAR MEMORIES: I am violently opposed to high school clubs which can deny membership to students for reasons other than scholastic standing.

In my opinion, no organization should be tolerated in a tax-supported high school which can discriminate against a student because he is not white, Protestant, good-looking, well-dressed, or because he does not live in the "right" part of town.

The only aristocracy which should be recognized and rewarded in the public school system is the aristocracy of achievement.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the big city female who criticized the Montana women for going downtown in riding pants and western wear just burned me up. I'll bet both this gal and her husband go downtown in Bermuda shorts. No one around these parts would be caught dead in such apparel.

Levis, boots, western shirts and suede jackets are as much in vogue in the West as skirts are out east. If I wore jeans in the lobby of the St. Regis Hotel in New York, she might have a legitimate complaint. But some of us gals ride a horse to town to attend to family business. We'd look pretty silly astride that horse in a Trigere suit.

Western clothes are in the tradition of the West. If the ritzy lady from the East doesn't like what she sees in Montana, she ought to go back where the sights are more to her taste.

—BILLINGS BABE

DEAR BABE: Thanks for defending the wonderful West Similar cries of "Unfair" came from Texas, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming. But the Montana gals screamed the loudest.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's youngest sister was married last week. He was invited to be in the wedding party. He was told to wear a tuxedo which he had to go out and rent. This cost him $12.50.

The groom makes as much money as my husband. He doesn't have three children to support. He also didn't have to travel almost 300 miles to the wedding—nor did he have to buy a gift.

My husband was sure the groom or the bride would offer to pay for the rental of his tuxedo, but they did not. Now my husband thinks he ought to come right out and ask them for the money. Honestly I just couldn't let him do it.

Please print this letter so other bridal couples will know that when they ask people to be in their wedding party they should pay their expenses. Thank you.

Tawes Attacks His Opponent's Voting Record

By HERB THOMPSON

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP) — Gov. Tawes sharply criticized Thursday night Republican Frank Small's voting record in Congress and said, "The people of this state want and are entitled to more enlightened leadership."

The governor's attack, the sharpest he has made in the campaign, came at a Democratic rally of the Kensington-Wheaton Democratic Club after a day of campaigning in Montgomery County.

Tawes spent most of the day in New York attending, with other East Coast governors, a briefing on the Cuban crisis. He arrived shortly before Thursday night's rally in Montgomery, which Tawes lost by 12,000 votes in the May primary and where he faces an uphill fight in the general election.

"I can report to you that the people of Maryland are not ready to accept a candidate for the governor of this state who, while a member of Congress, voted against a score of major, constructive proposals," Tawes said.

Small, a Clinton, Md., businessman and banker, represented Southern Maryland in Congress in 1953-54.

Cites Record

"They are not going to vote for a man who failed on three separate occasions to support public housing programs," the governor continued.

"Nor are they going to vote for a man who failed to support federal aid to Friendship Airport, expansion of the activities of the Voice of America, statehood for Hawaii, and a measure that would have provided a ceiling on interest rates for FHA-insured home improvement loans.

Cites Record

"They are not going to vote for a man who failed to support increased appropriations for Veterans Administration hospitals and for publicly supported hospitals.

"They are not going to support a man who steadfastly refused to assist in providing even a hearing on a bill calling for pay increases for government and postal employes."

The governor said the people also will not support a party whose every representative in the House of Delegates and the State Senate opposed reapportionment of the State Legislature, or a party whose governor, former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, vetoed creation of a department of economic development to bring more jobs into the state.

"The people of this state want and are entitled to more enlightened leadership. On the basis of comparison, it is the Democrats of this state that can provide this type of leadership."

Tawes urged that voters compare the "positive program" of his administration with the record of the opposition.

"The Republican Party has come forth with no constructive proposals," he said. "Rather, they have concentrated on negative criticism of the programs that we have enacted for the benefit of all. People of Maryland will never support a party wedded to this do-nothing philosophy."

Is Dull Day

Appearing with Tawes were his statewide running mates, senatorial candidate Daniel B. Brewster, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan and Carlton R. Sickles, candidate for congressman-at-large.

Democrat John R. Foley, who is trying to regain the 6th District congressional seat which he lost to Republican Charles McC. Mathias two years ago, also traveled with the caravan on today's tour.

The tour was in marked contrast to successful stops the Democrats have been making in neighboring Prince Georges County. Small and apparently unenthusiastic crowds attended coffees earlier in the day, but interest picked up in the late afternoon with some 150 attending a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dawson. Dawson is a former executive secretary to President Truman. His wife is the former movie actress Ilona Massey.

Undergoes Surgery

Joseph E. Kenny, 39 West College Avenue, Frostburg, acting postmaster, who collapsed while at the Post Office Tuesday morning, underwent surgery later in the day at Miners Hospital where his condition is reported "good."

Missing Girls Are Located

Two Frostburg area girls who have been missing from their homes since October 13, were located in Clarion, Ohio, said Maryland State Police.

Patricia Ann O'Brien, 16, of RD 1, Frostburg, and Ann Willison, also 16, of Shaft, are being returned to their homes by their parents, the police added.

It was reported Wednesday that the O'Brien girl had been located in a hospital in Newark, Ohio.

W. Va. Counties To Get U.S. Aid

Ten counties in nearby areas of West Virginia are among 30 that have qualified for special federal help under the $400 million Public Works Acceleration program.

Two of the counties, Pendleton and Randolph, will be eligible for federal matching funds on a 66-34 basis, with the federal government paying the larger share.

Grant and Morgan counties are eligible for aid on a 58-42 basis, and Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy, Preston, Tucker and Berkeley counties are eligible on the usual 50-50 basis.

Ordinarily, counties must match federal money 50-50, but up to 75 per cent of the money can be provided by the government where local units cannot meet the 50 per cent requirement.

The program is designed for areas having serious and chronic labor surpluses.

"The people of this state want and are entitled to more enlightened leadership. On the basis of comparison, it is the Democrats of this state that can provide this type of leadership."

Tawes urged that voters compare the "positive program" of his administration with the record of the opposition.

"The Republican Party has come forth with no constructive proposals," he said. "Rather, they have concentrated on negative criticism of the programs that we have enacted for the benefit of all. People of Maryland will never support a party wedded to this do-nothing philosophy."

Is Dull Day

Appearing with Tawes were his statewide running mates, senatorial candidate Daniel B. Brewster, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan and Carlton R. Sickles, candidate for congressman-at-large.

Democrat John R. Foley, who is trying to regain the 6th District congressional seat which he lost to Republican Charles McC. Mathias two years ago, also traveled with the caravan on today's tour.

The tour was in marked contrast to successful stops the Democrats have been making in neighboring Prince Georges County. Small and apparently unenthusiastic crowds attended coffees earlier in the day, but interest picked up in the late afternoon with some 150 attending a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dawson. Dawson is a former executive secretary to President Truman. His wife is the former movie actress Ilona Massey.

Undergoes Surgery

Joseph E. Kenny, 39 West College Avenue, Frostburg, acting postmaster, who collapsed while at the Post Office Tuesday morning, underwent surgery later in the day at Miners Hospital where his condition is reported "good."

Missing Girls Are Located

Two Frostburg area girls who have been missing from their homes since October 13, were located in Clarion, Ohio, said Maryland State Police.

Patricia Ann O'Brien, 16, of RD 1, Frostburg, and Ann Willison, also 16, of Shaft, are being returned to their homes by their parents, the police added.

It was reported Wednesday that the O'Brien girl had been located in a hospital in Newark, Ohio.

W. Va. Counties To Get U.S. Aid

Ten counties in nearby areas of West Virginia are among 30 that have qualified for special federal help under the $400 million Public Works Acceleration program.

Two of the counties, Pendleton and Randolph, will be eligible for federal matching funds on a 66-34 basis, with the federal government paying the larger share.

Grant and Morgan counties are eligible for aid on a 58-42 basis, and Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy, Preston, Tucker and Berkeley counties are eligible on the usual 50-50 basis.

Ordinarily, counties must match federal money 50-50, but up to 75 per cent of the money can be provided by the government where local units cannot meet the 50 per cent requirement.

The program is designed for areas having serious and chronic labor surpluses.

A class of 25 has signed up for the classes from the Raygold Manufacturing Company, Pierce Pre-Cooked Foods and Loewengart Tanneries, both Moorefield and Petersburg divisions.

The classes are a pilot program for this area of the state and are designed to give the plant foremen and department heads an insight into the problems of management. Subjects studied will include public relations, labor relations, production schedules and other related problems jointly shared by labor and management.

The classes will continue each Wednesday evening for six weeks and will convene at 7:30 each night for a two-hour classroom period. Beall Mountaineers Win Area Class A Cross-Country Championship

Romney's Hott Hangs Up New Course Record

Elk Garden Cops Class B Meet In Easy Fashion

Romney's Allen Hott raced to a new course record, but Beall High's team strength enabled the Mountaineers to win the area Class A cross-country championship yesterday afternoon at the rain-drenched Fort Cumberland Golf Course.

The Mountaineers, who had runners finishing in the third, fifth and seventh spots, wound up with a winning low point total of 47, four less than second-place Romney. Elk Garden finished third with 64, while Fort Hill (90) and Allegany (95) were far out of the running.

Elk Garden had no trouble whatsoever in winning the Class B competition. Coach Paul Kalbaugh's harriers had five of the top seven finishers and posted a first place aggregate of 21 points.

"B" Meet No Contest

It was strictly no contest, the second place finisher (Fort Hill) amassing 72 points. Paw Paw was third with 75, followed by Oldtown (108), Allegany (114) and Beall (155). Romney did not enter the required number of runners to be considered in the scoring.

Perhaps the cold, wet weather inspired Hott to turn on the steam, but at any rate he clipped 15½ seconds off the Fort Cumberland course standard set last year by Tom Elliott.

Elliott ran second yesterday in 11:13, which also bettered his old mark of 11:20.5, set last year in the Allegany County meet. Beall's Don Fletcher clocked in third at 11:19.

Elk Garden's Tom Evans finished fourth in 11:25, and Don McKenzie of Beall came in one second ahead of Allegany's Kent Allison at 11:30. After Hott, Romney's next finisher was Lionel Pepper, who ran ninth just ahead of teammate Paul Loy.

Sharp Finishes First

In the Class B event, Paw Paw's Guy Sharp finished first in the time of 12:07, but after that it was Elk Garden all the way.

Jim Bray, Walter Ward, Dale Lipscomb and Mel Smith ran second, third, fourth and fifth respectively, and after Oldtown's Bob Shaw checked in sixth, Jerry Murphy dashed home to round out the winners' first five finishers.

A total of 89 boys participated in the two meets, which were staged in spite of extremely adverse weather conditions. There were 36 runners from five schools in the Class A competition, and 53 representing seven teams in Class B.

Here are the top 20 finishers in each meet, with times of the first five listed in parentheses:

Paul Thompson Home Run King; Midland Earns Three Awards

Jim Winters, a 14-game winner for Midland Old Exports, champions of the Twilight Baseball League, has been voted the Most Valuable Player Award for the 1962 season.

Winters started 18 games and finished 15, pitched 105 innings, struck out 109 and wound up the campaign with a 14-4 record.

Team and individual awards were distributed this week at a meeting in Midland, according to Ellis Fazenbaker, league president.

Bruce Batting Champ

Bruce Smith, of Zihlman, the league's batting champion, received a trophy as did Paul "Bubbles" Thompson, Midland slugger, who was the home run king with nine round-trippers to his credit. Thompson also batted .451, obtaining 42 hits in 93 official trips, including 11 two-baggers and two triples. Thompson was an outfielder-pitcher.

Smith, Zihlman catcher, captured the batting crown with a lofty average of .551. He garnered 53 hits in 96 times at bat and collected 23 extra base wallops—seven home runs, three triples and 13 doubles.

Earn Three Awards

Midland's Old Exports, managed by Frank I. Buskirk, Jr., of Frostburg, were the recipients of three awards, namely, the league pennant for winning the regular season championship, donated by the league; the regular season title trophy, donated by the Wilson Hardware Company of Cumberland, and the playoff championship trophy, donated by Hugh Kifer, of the Kifer Beverage Center, LaVale.

Midland copped the pennant by winning 25 games and losing seven. The Old Exports won the playoff semi-finals, beating Barton, 4-3 and 5-2, and took three out of four games from Westernport, 6-4, 5-3, 4-10 and 6-3 to annex the playoff crown.

Deadline Set For Kids' Grid Skills Program

Wednesday Final Day To Register

The deadline for area youngsters to enter the national Punt, Pass and Kick Competition is next Wednesday, and competition director Joe Gratton expects as many as 350 grade school boys between the ages of 7 and 11 to participate on the local level.

Sponsored nationally by Ford Division of the Ford Motor Company, the program is being cosponsored in Cumberland by Gratton Ford and the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce. The actual competition will take place Saturday, November 3, at Fort Hill Stadium.

Three registration centers have been set up here — at Gratton Ford on South George Street, the Central YMCA and the Sports Shoppe on North Centre Street.

There is no charge for registration nor is there any special equipment needed, but entrants must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Competitors will vie with others of their age groups in contests of distance and accuracy in the passing, punting and kicking (using a kicking tee) of footballs. There is no body contact.

Prizes in the Cumberland competition include Baltimore Colt warmup jackets for the top winner in each age group, football helmets for second place winners, and footballs autographed by the 1961 NFL champion Green Bay Packers for third place finishers.

Area winners, determined by comparing scores of all state winners, will receive expense-paid trips to Baltimore for themselves and their fathers. They'll compete during halftime of a Colt football game with other area champs, to determine the ten national finalists.

The national finalists and their parents will be awarded expense-paid trips to Washington for a White House reception, to be followed by a trip to the championship game of the National Football League. There the national winner in each age group will be determined by a halftime competition.

Camper Gridders To Attend Terp Game Tomorrow

Members of the Allegany High football squad will attend tomorrow's game in College Park between the University of Maryland and South Carolina.

The Campers play Frederick there tonight and will stay overnight, leaving for College Park tomorrow morning at 9:30. The trip is being sponsored by the Camper Club, the school's booster organization.

After arriving at College Park tomorrow, the team will eat in one of the college dining halls and then will be taken on a tour of the campus before going to Byrd Stadium for the 1:30 game.

Coach Ed Schwarz reported that 39 boys, including one manager, will make the trip.

Leahy Will Not Manage Liston

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Both Frank Leahy and Jack Nilon, Sonny Liston's adviser, denied persistent reports Thursday that the new heavyweight boxing champion wants the former Notre Dame football coach to be his new manager.

Leahy said at his Denver home that Liston had not asked him to manage him and added that he had no plans to do so.

Leahy said the reports apparently started after he and associates made a television movie with Liston while he was training for the Sept. 25 title fight with Floyd Patterson.

Nilon dismissed the report published in the New Orleans Times-Picayune as "just nothing."

SMU's Athletic Department In Dire Financial Straits

University May Have To Leave Big Time Ranks

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — The Southern Methodist University athletic department is in dire financial straits and has discontinued contributing to the school, a Dallas Times Herald sports writer, Louis Cox, wrote Thursday.

The article declared that the university administration was trying to find the answer to the question of whether the school could stay in big time football.

Football attendance has dropped alarmingly.

The Times Herald said the faculty appeared to be upset and that some of the professors thought there was too much emphasis on football and not enough on academics.

Reports that the school itself is helping finance the athletic department were attributed to hints from the professors, who want a pay raise.

Cox wrote that no one at SMU would give a clear answer but the fact remained that the athletic department has stopped contributing to the school.

The Times Herald said that resignations of Dean James Buchanan and Asst. Dean Calvin Smith of the School of Arts and Sciences pointed up the conflict between athletics and academics.

The campus newspaper explained that Dr. Smith apparently felt the social aspects and athletic endeavors of student life were emphasized too greatly."

The Times Herald quoted an unnamed official as saying, "In reality, it's up to the public whether SMU continues to have bigtime football." He said that if the public didn't turn out for the games, "We may have to drop football."

Turnouts of 15,000 for the Southern California and Rice games were just about half enough on the average to finance SMU's athletic program, the source was quote as saying.

Beall Mountaineers Win Area Class A Cross-Country Championship

Elk Garden Cops Class B Meet In Easy Fashion

Romney's Allen Hott raced to a new course record, but Beall High's team strength enabled the Mountaineers to win the area Class A cross-country championship yesterday afternoon at the rain-drenched Fort Cumberland Golf Course.

The Mountaineers, who had runners finishing in the third, fifth and seventh spots, wound up with a winning low point total of 47, four less than second-place Romney. Elk Garden finished third with 64, while Fort Hill (90) and Allegany (95) were far out of the running.

Elk Garden had no trouble whatsoever in winning the Class B competition. Coach Paul Kalbaugh's harriers had five of the top seven finishers and posted a first place aggregate of 21 points.

"B" Meet No Contest

It was strictly no contest, the second place finisher (Fort Hill) amassing 72 points. Paw Paw was third with 75, followed by Oldtown (108), Allegany (114) and Beall (155). Romney did not enter the required number of runners to be considered in the scoring.

Perhaps the cold, wet weather inspired Hott to turn on the steam, but at any rate he clipped 15½ seconds off the Fort Cumberland course standard set last year by Tom Elliott.

Elliott ran second yesterday in 11:13, which also bettered his old mark of 11:20.5, set last year in the Allegany County meet. Beall's Don Fletcher clocked in third at 11:19.

Elk Garden's Tom Evans finished fourth in 11:25, and Don McKenzie of Beall came in one second ahead of Allegany's Kent Allison at 11:30. After Hott, Romney's next finisher was Lionel Pepper, who ran ninth just ahead of teammate Paul Loy.

Sharp Finishes First

In the Class B event, Paw Paw's Guy Sharp finished first in the time of 12:07, but after that it was Elk Garden all the way.

Jim Bray, Walter Ward, Dale Lipscomb and Mel Smith ran second, third, fourth and fifth respectively, and after Oldtown's Bob Shaw checked in sixth, Jerry Murphy dashed home to round out the winners' first five finishers.

A total of 89 boys participated in the two meets, which were staged in spite of extremely adverse weather conditions. There were 36 runners from five schools in the Class A competition, and 53 representing seven teams in Class B.

Here are the top 20 finishers in each meet, with times of the first five listed in parentheses:

LaSalle Winds Up Home Football Schedule With Ridgeley Tonight

Allegany High Meets Cadets At Frederick

Petersburg Invades Keyser; W.Va. Deaf, Southern Play Away

LaSalle High School's Explorers make their sixth and final appearance of the season at home tonight when they meet Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks at the stadium at 8 o'clock.

Although both teams are playing below .500 ball they appear pretty evenly matched and the game could be a close one.

LaSalle has won the last three games of this series and have won 15 of the 21 games played since 1939.

Coach Paul "Bubbles" Thompson's Explorers are 1-4-1 and after the Ridgeley game they play at Philippi, W. Va., November 2 and windup the season with Beall at Frostburg Thanksgiving Day.

Ridgeley needs a victory to move into the .500 circle after copping three of its first seven games. Coach Tom O'Connor's team plays its final game of the season next Friday night at Hancock.

Cadets Host Allegany

Coach Ed Schwarz takes his Allegany High School Campers to Frederick tonight for a C.V.A. League game with Jack Molesworth's Cadets. Frederick never has beaten Allegany in football and will be seeking its first win after six straight reverses in the series.

Allegany is 2-3-1 overall and 1-1-1 in the CVAL. Frederick's season record is 2-4-0 and 1-2 in the league. The Cadets surprised last week by holding South Hagerstown to a 20-13 score after the Rebels has crushed the Campers, 31-12. Frederick swamped North Hagerstown, 48-0 while Allegany turned back the Hubs, 19-6. On the basis of these scores, the Cadets are conceded the edge in tonight's contest.

Petersburg At Keyser

Other Potomac Valley Conference games in addition to that between Ridgeley and LaSalle, are Petersburg at Keyser and Circleville at Franklin.

Keyser, leading the PVC with a 4-0 record, will be gunning for its 12th straight victory of the series with the Vikings and its 11th consecutive triumph in the league in two years. Petersburg has split even in six games in the P.V.C. this season.

Coach Tom Domen's Southern High School gridders of Oakland (3-4) journey to Masontown, W. Va., tonight to engage Valley High School.

The second C.V.A.L. game on tonight's card pits the Westminster Owls against the Bulldogs at Martinsburg.

Lions Play Musselman

In other Friday engagements, the West Virginia School for the Deaf faces Musselman High School at Inwood, Berkeley Springs visits Hedgesville, Hancock is at Charles Town, Bedford plays host to Claysburg and winless North Hagerstown entertains Chambersburg, Pa., High School. Parsons High, also without a victory this season, plays at Kingwood tonight.

FELIPE Alou led the San Francisco Giants in hitting last season with a .316 mark. Willie Mays and Harvey Kuenn both hit .304.

SQUEEZE PLAY—Winner of a cigar sweepstakes contest, John A. Walker, 71, of Staten Island, N.Y., and his granddaughter, Karen McGovern, are surrounded by footballs, a few of the 41 he received, for each of his 41 grandchildren. He also got several boxes of cigars.

Don Drysdale, Donovan Named Best Twirlers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don Drysdale, a 25-game winner for the Los Angeles Dodgers, and Dick Donovan, a 20-game winner for the Cleveland Indians, were named the National and American League pitchers of the year Thursday by the United Press International.

Drysdale, 6-foot, 6-inch sidewheeler, received 21 of the 24 votes cast for the NL pitcher while Donovan, a dedicated artsman, got 15 of the votes for the AL pitcher. The voting was conducted by a 24-man UPI board of baseball experts.

Strikeout king Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, 21-game winner Joey Jay and 23-game winner Bob Purkey of the Cincinnati Reds received the other NL votes. World Series hero Ralph Terry of the New York Yankees, a 23-game winner during the regular season, got seven votes, and Dick (Smokey the Bear) Radatz of the Boston Red Sox and Hank Aguirre of the Detroit Tigers divided the remaining AL votes.

Each of the designated winners of the post-season survey had a brilliant season despite frustrating circumstances.

Drysdale, who never won more than 17 games in any previous season, was the NL's biggest winner since the Dodgers' Don Newcombe posted 27 victories in 1956. He pitched in 43 games, 19 complete, worked 314 innings and struck out 232 batters while compiling a 2.92 earned run average.

For the first half of the season, Drysdale and Koufax formed the strongest 1-2 pitching punch in baseball. When Koufax was sidelined with a finer ailment in July, Drysdale assumed the role of "carrying" the Dodger staff—a job which became increasingly difficult as the season wore on.

Donovan's rise to 20-victory stardom followed a 1961 season during which he was the hard luck pitcher of baseball. Donovan led the AL with a 2.40 ERA in 1961 but had only a 10-10 won-lost record for the Washington Senators.

Fullmer Hints He May Retire

Dethroned Champion Bruised, Heartsick

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Gene Fullmer, battered, bruised and heartsick, hinted Thursday he may hang up his gloves after resigning as the fightingest middleweight champion of all time.

"I don't know . . . but I have serious doubts if I will ever fight again in the ring," Fullmer said as he returned to his home after suffering a 15-round beating at the hands of Dick Tiger in San Francisco Tuesday.

"I know one thing, no title in the world is worth it if people get so excited and suffer as much as my loved ones do when I fight."

Gene's father-in-law, Roy Holt, suffered a heart attack at ringside at Candlestick Park Tuesday while Gene was losing his title. Holt died early Wednesday.

Fullmer's reaction followed the announcement Wednesday of plans for a rematch between Fullmer and Tiger. Promoter Norman Rothschild announced in San Francisco that he held the contract for both fighters to meet either in Bozeman, Mont., or Las Vegas, Nev., Jan. 19.

Fullmer rates as the fightingest middleweight champion because he put his title on the line nine times. He lost it twice.

In San Francisco, Jersey Jones, Tiger's American manager, agreed with Fullmer.

"I hate to advise somebody else," Jones said, "but if I was Fullmer I'd quit now. Many a good fighter took one fight too many and Gene may be at this point."

THE New York Mets were shut out less times than any other National League team in 1962. They were blanked six times yet finished last.

All-Losers Play Tonight

Detroit (0-4) Will Meet Dayton (0-6)

By United Press International

Those all-winning searchers after the national college football championship will have to stand aside Friday night while a pair of all-losers hold the national spotlight.

No bowl bid, conference or national championship will be determined when the University of Detroit opposes Dayton but it is possible that one of the most famous players in the country will finally get his team on the winning side of the scoreboard.

Gross Paces Titans

He's Jerry Gross of Detroit, 5-10, 168-pound glamour quarterback who ranks No. 4 in passing and No. 5 in total offense among the individual leaders of major college elevens. Gross has carried the Titans 833 yards through the air with 60 completions in 121 attempts to rank No. 4 in passing and has gained another 30 yards running for a total offense figure of 863.

Despite Gross' heroics, Detroit has lost four consecutive games. Dayton, meanwhile, has fared even worse with six straight losses.

The "big boys," of course, will take over the spotlight on Saturday.

Cuban Crisis Halts Fort Eustis Football

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The current Cuban crisis has forced the cancellation of the remainder of the Ft. Eustis football schedule. The team, national service champions last season, had a 4-2-0 record this year.

Nieman Is Given Release By Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Veteran pinch-hitter Bob Nieman was given his unconditional release Thursday by the San Francisco Giants — first of the winter changes to be made by the National League champions.

Nieman, who played in 30 games and was at bat only 31 times, hit a respectable .290, with one homer in his nine hits.

With the release of Nieman, the club announced the addition of pitchers Bob Ship, John Pregenzer and Albert Stanek and outfielder Jim McLain.

Bishop is being brought up for a trial from the Lakeland club in the Florida State League. Only 19 years old, he had a 12-12 record, but struck out 224 men in 197 innings, giving up 145 hits. He had an ERA of 2.29.

Club Not For Sale

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Barron Hilton, owner of the American Football League's San Diego Chargers, said Thursday the club was not for sale and that it would remain here.

He said, in the interview with the San Diego Union, that he wanted to deny reports published elsewhere that the club was going to be moved and that he wanted out.

New College Has Great Coach, But No Team Or Gym

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Paul Seymour, 34-year-old former coach of the St. Louis Hawks and Syracuse Nationals, was named basketball coach Thursday of a new, two-year college without a team or playing court.

A spokesman for the Onondaga County Community College here said in announcing Seymour's appointment:

"We may not have a team yet, or a place to play, but we have the greatest coach in the country."

Seymour still is under contract to the Hawks of the National Basketball Association, although he was fired about a year ago.

He will serve as Onondaga coach for the nominal salary of $1 a year until his contract with the Hawks expires next April, the college spokesman said.

The former Nats star said he had 70 candidates for the team, which is expected to start play in December. The school is a unit of the State University of New York.

Blizzard Stops Golf

HURRICANE, W.Va. (UPI) — Rain followed by blizzard-like snow forced postponement of the opening round of the West Virginia Open golf tournament Thursday and the tourney was cut from 54 to 36 holes.

Successive passes good for 53 yards and a touchdown in the second period enabled Coach Russ Fitzgerald's Beall High School freshmen gridders to defeat the Fort Hill High School freshmen yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 7-0.

In the second period, the Little Mountaineers gained possession on their own 47. On the first play, Jim Chaney passed 15 yards to John Marshall to move the ball into Fort Hill territory. Then a 38-yard pass play from Chaney to Roger Cutter covered 38 yards for the winning touchdown. Pat Roberts plunged the extra point.

The game was played during snow flurries on a soggy field and was marred by Fort Hill's fumbling. The Little Sentinels fumbled six times, four in the first half, and recovered only once.

In the final period, Fort Hill drove to the Beall 22 and after the visitors were penalized 15 yards they were held by Beall.

Bow Hunting Season For Deer Opens In Allegany, Garrett Counties Today

Archers' 17-Day Hunt Ends Nov. 14; County Record 27

The bow hunting season for deer opens today at sunrise in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties and will remain open until November 14, Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, announced last evening.

A number of hunters from down state arrived late last evening at Shipway's Inn on Green Ridge and the Town Hill and many more Robin Hoods are expected to be on hand to seek deer during the 17-day season.

County Bag 27 Last Year

Last year Allegany County with 27 kills was topped only by one other county in the state — Kent on the Eastern Shore — which had 35. The season, however, in the three Western Maryland counties is 11 days shorter on account of the heavy influx of turkey and squirrel hunters coming here from other parts of the state. This would make it unsafe for the bow hunters.

In addition to the 27 legal kills in 1961, a few had been shot with rifles and three others that were hit with arrows were found several days later. The 1961 total of 27 was a new record for Allegany County.

Minke states that the deer herds in the eastern end of Allegany County have been somewhat depleted due to the 169 antlerless deer being slain during the special antlerless season on the final three days of the year in 1961 but there is still ample deer to provide good hunting.

212 Killed In 1961

A total of 212 deer were killed by bowmen in Maryland last year. The total included 18 kills in Washington County and eight in Garrett.

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission reports Maryland Robin Hoods are on the increase if the sale of bow and arrow deer hunting stamps are an indication.

Archers have purchased 3,450 stamps through September which is 700 more than was purchased for the same period last year.

Through October 20, checking stations reported 60 animals were taken. This was ten more than were claimed during the same six days last year. The deer season opened in 13 counties before the opening date in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

Beall Booters Host Mt. Savage

Valley Entertains Bruce High Today

Clinging to a one-point lead over Valley High School in the race for the W.M.I. Soccer League championship, Beall High School's Mountaineers will battle the Mt. Savage High School Indians today at Frostburg in an important game.

Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers copped the series opener from Mt. Savage, 2-0, and lead the league with a 3-0-2 record. Mt. Savage is 1-2-2 and could move into the .500 circle with a victory today.

Clifton Van Roby and John Fatkin will officiate.

Valley (2-0-3) plays Bruce High (1-2-1) today on the Valley High Field.

Chris Short Signs

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)— The Philadelphia Phillies announced Thursday the signing of Chris Short, 25-year-old lefthanded pitcher, to a 1963 contract. He is the third member of the Phils to come to terms.

Short had his best season by far in the majors this year, winning 11 and losing 9 with an earned run average of 3.42. In his only two previous seasons, his records were 6-9 in 1960 and 6-12 in 1961.

Successive passes good for 53 yards and a touchdown in the second period enabled Coach Russ Fitzgerald's Beall High School freshmen gridders to defeat the Fort Hill High School freshmen yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 7-0.

In the second period, the Little Mountaineers gained possession on their own 47. On the first play, Jim Chaney passed 15 yards to John Marshall to move the ball into Fort Hill territory. Then a 38-yard pass play from Chaney to Roger Cutter covered 38 yards for the winning touchdown. Pat Roberts plunged the extra point.

The game was played during snow flurries on a soggy field and was marred by Fort Hill's fumbling. The Little Sentinels fumbled six times, four in the first half, and recovered only once.

In the final period, Fort Hill drove to the Beall 22 and after the visitors were penalized 15 yards they were held by Beall.

Bow Hunting Season For Deer Opens In Allegany, Garrett Counties Today

Archers' 17-Day Hunt Ends Nov. 14; County Record 27

The bow hunting season for deer opens today at sunrise in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties and will remain open until November 14, Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, announced last evening.

A number of hunters from down state arrived late last evening at Shipway's Inn on Green Ridge and the Town Hill and many more Robin Hoods are expected to be on hand to seek deer during the 17-day season.

County Bag 27 Last Year

Last year Allegany County with 27 kills was topped only by one other county in the state — Kent on the Eastern Shore — which had 35. The season, however, in the three Western Maryland counties is 11 days shorter on account of the heavy influx of turkey and squirrel hunters coming here from other parts of the state. This would make it unsafe for the bow hunters.

In addition to the 27 legal kills in 1961, a few had been shot with rifles and three others that were hit with arrows were found several days later. The 1961 total of 27 was a new record for Allegany County.

Minke states that the deer herds in the eastern end of Allegany County have been somewhat depleted due to the 169 antlerless deer being slain during the special antlerless season on the final three days of the year in 1961 but there is still ample deer to provide good hunting.

212 Killed In 1961

A total of 212 deer were killed by bowmen in Maryland last year. The total included 18 kills in Washington County and eight in Garrett.

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission reports Maryland Robin Hoods are on the increase if the sale of bow and arrow deer hunting stamps are an indication.

Archers have purchased 3,450 stamps through September which is 700 more than was purchased for the same period last year.

Through October 20, checking stations reported 60 animals were taken. This was ten more than were claimed during the same six days last year. The deer season opened in 13 counties before the opening date in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

Beall Booters Host Mt. Savage

Valley Entertains Bruce High Today

Clinging to a one-point lead over Valley High School in the race for the W.M.I. Soccer League championship, Beall High School's Mountaineers will battle the Mt. Savage High School Indians today at Frostburg in an important game.

Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers copped the series opener from Mt. Savage, 2-0, and lead the league with a 3-0-2 record. Mt. Savage is 1-2-2 and could move into the .500 circle with a victory today.

Clifton Van Roby and John Fatkin will officiate.

Valley (2-0-3) plays Bruce High (1-2-1) today on the Valley High Field.

The Lonaconing booters hold a 3-2 decision over the Bulldogs.

"Moose" Arnone and Bob Kirk will be the officials for this game.

Chris Short Signs

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)— The Philadelphia Phillies announced Thursday the signing of Chris Short, 25-year-old lefthanded pitcher, to a 1963 contract. He is the third member of the Phils to come to terms.

Short had his best season by far in the majors this year, winning 11 and losing 9 with an earned run average of 3.42. In his only two previous seasons, his records were 6-9 in 1960 and 6-12 in 1961.

New College Has Great Coach, But No Team Or Gym

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Paul Seymour, 34-year-old former coach of the St. Louis Hawks and Syracuse Nationals, was named basketball coach Thursday of a new, two-year college without a team or playing court.

A spokesman for the Onondaga County Community College here said in announcing Seymour's appointment:

"We may not have a team yet, or a place to play, but we have the greatest coach in the country."

Seymour still is under contract to the Hawks of the National Basketball Association, although he was fired about a year ago.

He will serve as Onondaga coach for the nominal salary of $1 a year until his contract with the Hawks expires next April, the college spokesman said.

The former Nats star said he had 70 candidates for the team, which is expected to start play in December. The school is a unit of the State University of New York.

Blizzard Stops Golf

HURRICANE, W.Va. (UPI) — Rain followed by blizzard-like snow forced postponement of the opening round of the West Virginia Open golf tournament Thursday and the tourney was cut from 54 to 36 holes.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD. — All of us who have lived in California for any length of time know what a fascinating story the life of A. P. Giannini, founder of the biggest bank in the world - the Bank of America - will make. Tay Garnett tells me he has acquired from Claire Giannini family, the screen rights to the famous banker's life story.

We in Los Angeles are familiar with Dr. A. H. Giannini, who had such faith in the motion picture industry. He loaned great sums of money and it was his proud boast that he never lost a penny. Originally, the Bank of America was called the Bank of Italy, and it was in New York that I borrowed $2,000 on my life insurance policy to send my daughter Harriet to college.

Tay tells me he would like to get Rock Hudson to play Giannini, and wouldn't be averse to going to Universal if that were possible.

Two welcome visitors to my home were Dick Powell and David Niven. I was happy to see Dick looking so well. He is confident that he will be completely cured of the malignancy when he finishes his treatments. Dick said he has filmed his TV shows up to Jan. 16.

David, in town for a few days, says he will return to Hollywood in April. He has movie commitments that will keep him in Europe until then. He leaves Monday for Paris to join the "Pink Panther" company.

"Billy Barnes Los Angeles' Review," treated so kindly by the local critics, will be made into a movie right here at home late this summer. The variety-musical, currently at the Coronet Theatre, is aiming at doing as well for our town as "West Side Story" did in reflecting the feeling of New York.

There's hardly a nationally known name in the show—but be that as it may, the same young stars will appear in the picture as well as some others who appeared in previous revues for Billy, Joyce Jameson and Ken Barry are unusually talented. Did you know that Jack Jones (whose recording of "Lollypops and Roses" is the season's hit), Dick Patterson (now in "Bye Bye Birdie") and Jo-Anne Worley ("Carnival") are all Billy Barnes' discoveries. George Eckstein and Bill Watters are back-on the Barnes movie revue.

As soon as Cliff Robertson gets out of his John F. Kennedy naval uniform in "PT.109" he planes immediately to New York to report to Otto Preminger for an extensive test for "The Cardinal." Usually an actor of Cliff's standing doesn't like to make these pre-contract tests. But because of the special nature of the title role, the habits and robes worn, Cliff consented. You can put it down that he practically has the part in hand.

Since all the publicity he has rated in "PT.109," Cliff can just about call his shots. But outside of "The Cardinal" his only enthusiasm is a Broadway show for next season.

Whether Kim Novak just wanted to show Richard Quine a thing or two (they're battling again) or whether she had a real romance with French couturier Louis Feraud in Paris before she flew back to Hollywood, remains to be seen. But there's no doubt she fell in love with Feraud's clothes. Ran up a $4,000 bill for a brand new wardrobe created by the good-looking Frenchman.

Also, while the Paris press stewed over a possible "elopement" of Kim and Feraud, they actually happened to be house-guests at the same weekend party outside Paris. The whole thing was pretty depressing to Quine, who usually hits the dumps when he and Kim have a feud.

That was a powerfully strong article Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt wrote for one of the current magazines stating that the Soviet Union is using Hollywood movies selected under the cultural exchange program as a means of disparaging America.

"Not everyone seems to understand that we send what the Russians request, and not what we select," writes Mrs. Roosevelt. "Very often their choice includes pictures that put our people and our way of life in a bad light."

She wisely adds, "We could prevent the Russians from seeing this kind of representation if Hollywood would stop making that kind of picture."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Joanna Barnes scoffs at those who think she has it easy being directed by her husband Larry Dobkin in an "Eleventh Hour" TV segment. "He's twice as tough on me as he is on the rest of the cast," sighs Joanna.

Leave it to Ethel Merman, Miss Show Business, to be generous about giving credit where it is due in her nightclub act. She opened at the Flamingo with one of the biggest premieres held in Las Vegas, and insisted that the sets designed by Serge Krizman get billing.

Talked with Jayne Meadows (Mrs. Steve Allen), who said that Steve Allen, Jr., Steve's 18-year-old son by his first marriage, is recuperating from heart surgery. He was in the recovery room for two days, so serious was his condition. Young Allen had intended to study medicine, but Jayne says he'll now have to take it easy for the remainder of the year.

There'll be a reunion between Henry Mancini and Audrey Hepburn when Hank goes to Paris to begin work on the musical score of "Charade." Mancini won an Academy Oscar for "Moon River," which Audrey sang in "Breakfast At Tiffany's."

Although Darryl Zanuck and Joe Jankiewicz are in Paris to prepare editing "Cleopatra," Walter Wanger is very much not in evidence. I have been reliably informed that Walter was not invited by 20th Century-Fox, and that this is one of the reasons he is planning to file a breach of contract suit against 20th.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Profit-taking drove grain prices sharply lower Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The selling, which added substantially to losses sustained late Wednesday, reflected hints that international tensions were easing slightly.

At the close, wheat was off ½ to 1½; corn off 2⅜ to 3; oats off ⅛ to 1¼; rye off 1¾ to 3½ and soybeans off 1½ to 4⅜.

News concerning the naval blockade of Cuba was the primary market mover once again. Dealings were less hectic than recently as it appeared the Soviet Union was trying to avoid a direct clash.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, — All of us who have lived in California for any length of time know what a fascinating story the life of A. P. Giannini, founder of the biggest bank in the world - the Bank of America - will make. Tay Garnett tells me he has acquired from Claire Giannini family, the screen rights to the famous banker's life story.

We in Los Angeles are familiar with Dr. A. H. Giannini, who had such faith in the motion picture industry. He loaned great sums of money and it was his proud boast that he never lost a penny. Originally, the Bank of America was called the Bank of Italy, and it was in New York that I borrowed $2,000 on my life insurance policy to send my daughter Harriet to college.

Tay tells me he would like to get Rock Hudson to play Giannini, and wouldn't be averse to going to Universal if that were possible.

Two welcome visitors to my home were Dick Powell and David Niven. I was happy to see Dick looking so well. He is confident that he will be completely cured of the malignancy when he finishes his treatments. Dick said he has filmed his TV shows up to Jan. 16.

David, in town for a few days, says he will return to Hollywood in April. He has movie commitments that will keep him in Europe until then. He leaves Monday for Paris to join the "Pink Panther" company.

"Billy Barnes Los Angeles' Review," treated so kindly by the local critics, will be made into a movie right here at home late this summer. The variety-musical, currently at the Coronet Theatre, is aiming at doing as well for our town as "West Side Story" did in reflecting the feeling of New York.

There's hardly a nationally known name in the show—but be that as it may, the same young stars will appear in the picture as well as some others who appeared in previous revues for Billy. Joyce Jameson and Ken Barry are unusually talented. Did you know that Jack Jones (whose recording of "Lollypops and Roses" is the season's hit), Dick Patterson (now in "Bye Bye Birdie") and Jo-Anne Worley ("Carnival") are all Billy Barnes' discoveries. George Eckstein and Bill Watters are back on the Barnes movie revue.

As soon as Cliff Robertson gets out of his John F. Kennedy naval uniform in "PT.109" he planes immediately to New York to report to Otto Preminger for an extensive test for "The Cardinal." Usually an actor of Cliff's standing doesn't like to make these pre-contract tests. But because of the special nature of the title role, the habits and robes worn, Cliff consented. You can put it down that he practically has the part in hand.

Since all the publicity he has rated in "PT.109," Cliff can just about call his shots. But outside of "The Cardinal" his only enthusiasm is a Broadway show for next season.

Whether Kim Novak just wanted to show Richard Quine a thing or two (they're battling again) or whether she had a real romance with French couturier Louis Feraud in Paris before she flew back to Hollywood, remains to be seen. But there's no doubt she fell in love with Feraud's clothes. Ran up a $4,000 bill for a brand new wardrobe created by the good-looking Frenchman.

Also, while the Paris press stewed over a possible "elopement" of Kim and Feraud, they actually happened to be house-guests at the same weekend party outside Paris. The whole thing was pretty depressing to Quine, who usually hits the dumps when he and Kim have a feud.

That was a powerfully strong article Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt wrote for one of the current magazines stating that the Soviet Union is using Hollywood movies selected under the cultural exchange program as a means of disparaging America.

"Not everyone seems to understand that we send what the Russians request, and not what we select," writes Mrs. Roosevelt. "Very often their choice includes pictures that put our people and our way of life in a bad light."

She wisely adds, "We could prevent the Russians from seeing this kind of representation if Hollywood would stop making that kind of picture."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Joanna Barnes scoffs at those who think she has it easy being directed by her husband Larry Dobkin in an "Eleventh Hour" TV segment. "He's twice as tough on me as he is on the rest of the cast," sighs Joanna.

Leave it to Ethel Merman, Miss Show Business, to be generous about giving credit where it is due in her nightclub act. She opened at the Flamingo with one of the biggest premieres held in Las Vegas, and insisted that the sets designed by Serge Krizman get billing.

Talked with Jayne Meadows (Mrs. Steve Allen), who said that Steve Allen, Jr., Steve's 18-year-old son by his first marriage, is recuperating from heart surgery. He was in the recovery room for two days, so serious was his condition. Young Allen had intended to study medicine, but Jayne says he'll now have to take it easy for the remainder of the year.

There'll be a reunion between Henry Mancini and Audrey Hepburn when Hank goes to Paris to begin work on the musical score of "Charade." Mancini won an Academy Oscar for "Moon River," which Audrey sang in "Breakfast At Tiffany's."

Although Darryl Zanuck and Joe Jankiewicz are in Paris to prepare editing "Cleopatra," Walter Wanger is very much not in evidence. I have been reliably informed that Walter was not invited by 20th Century-Fox, and that this is one of the reasons he is planning to file a breach of contract suit against 20th.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Profit-taking drove grain prices sharply lower Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The selling, which added substantially to losses sustained late Wednesday, reflected hints that international tensions were easing slightly.

At the close, wheat was off ½ to 1½; corn off 2⅜ to 3; oats off ⅞ to 1¼; rye off 1¾ to 3½ and soybeans off 1½ to 4⅜.

News concerning the naval blockade of Cuba was the primary market mover once again. Dealings were less hectic than recently as it appeared the Soviet Union was trying to avoid a direct clash.

The market opened under general liquidation and selling carried over from Wednesday's session.

Export and commission buying enabled wheat to recover part of early losses ranging to 2½ cents, but other grain futures showed little rallying power.

Corn and oats declined under general commission and local selling. Some locals later bought on resting orders. Cash houses took December and sold March oats.

Heavy liquidation sales found the rye market indifferently supported, and prices broke sharply. Dealers said many shorts were eliminated in recent trading.

Soybeans sutained the sharpest early loss, dropping 2 to 4¾ cents at the outset. Shorts later bought on resting orders. Meal and oil prices weakened with other markets.

Export dealings were still light pending clarification of the international situation.

Outside markets were mostly lower.

Snow Builds Up On Mountain Roads In Area

Chains Suggested West Of Frostburg

The use of chains was recommended by the State Roads Commission last night as autumn's first general snow began to build up on the highways west of Frostburg.

All roads west of Frostburg were snow covered and were becoming harardous as the temperature skidded below freezing.

Roads east of Cumberland were bare, although the SRC had to dispatch one crew early in the evening to Martin Mountain after a half-inch of snow accumulated.

The snowfall was general in the mountains. The Western Maryland Railway reported at 9 p. m. that it was 30 and cloudy at Deal, Pa., where three inches of snow covered the ground. It was 24 and snowing at Elkins, W. Va., which had an accumulation of two inches.

Garrett County reported that a light snow was still falling at 9 p. m. when the thermometer stood at 27 degrees. From one to three inches of snow was reported in the county.

SRC Crews Out

The SRC had 11 crews out, plowing the highways and applying chemicals.

In the Frostburg area, roads were about 75 per cent bare at 9 p. m. It was 30 degrees and up to 3½ inches of snow had built up.

The SRC had three crews working on highways in the Frostburg vicinity, and Frostburg City crews were called out early last night to cinder streets as a light snow began to fall.

Beginning today, someone will be on duty at the District 6 office at all times, so SRC forces can be dispatched as soon as snow or ice begins building up on highways in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

The weather alert will be continued until mid-April.

Large flakes of snow fell in Cumberland but melted instantly as they touched the ground. Light rain was reported in other sections of Maryland during the afternoon.

Frost Predicted

The Weather Bureau predicted the overnight low temperatures would drop into the 20s for the second straight day in Western Maryland.

The unofficial low for Maryland Thursday morning was 21 degrees at the University of Maryland fruit laboratory near Hancock in Washington County. The low reading on Big Savage Mountain west of Frostburg Thursday was 25 degrees.

Frederick's reading of 25 degrees was its coldest October temperature in the past 10 years.

With the low temperatures, frost is expected to hit many sections as it did Thursday.

Thursday afternoon's high temperatures generally were in the 40s, except for some 30s in Western Maryland and mostly 50s in the southeast section.

The Weather Bureau said the high reading Friday would be somewhat lower in the western portion of the state, with mostly sunny weather prevailing. Some snow flurries, however, are expected in Western Maryland.

TB Seals Prepared For Mailing

Four Area Counties Plan For Shelter For Children

The three Eastern Panhandle counties—Berkeley, Jefferson and Morgan—and the neighboring South Branch Valley county of Grant are included among the seven West Virginia counties which now have plans for providing shelter for school children.

However, a United Press International dispatch from Charleston said that "none of the plans has been tested and an evaluation of their effectiveness is not possible."

Other counties in West Virginia whose school systems have any comprehensive, clear-cut plans for shelter or evacuation of students during a possible enemy attack are Wood, Calhoun and Gilmer.

Evacuation Plans

Daryl Ely, project and training officer for the State Civil Defense Office, said 12 other counties have plans to evacuate children to their own homes.

He said plans of four counties have been tested by civil defense and school officials with Mercer and Wyoming receiving a rating of "good," Roane "fair" and Tucker "poor."

Ely said seven other counties have not been tested but their plans have been rated. Marshall and Wetzel counties were termed "good" and Clay, Jackson, Logan, Mingo and Wayne "fair."

Ely said 25 other counties have no plans at all and the remaining 11 have not reported.

State Civil Defense Director William J. Mathews Jr. said since 1961 the state unit in cooperation with the State Education Department has encouraged counties to develop shelter and evacuation plans. He said the policy is to "get those children home in the event of an emergency if there is time."

Time Element Cited

The time element, Mathews said, would be determined by civil defense and school officials at the local level in the event of an emergency.

"This policy still stands today," he said. "It is the sensible thing to do if there is time."

He said that the few evacuation tests made in the various counties over the past year had been generally satisfactory. "However, the testing we have anticipated has not been done."

But Mathews added that he felt about 50 per cent of the counties had looked into the problem of shelter and evacuation and they have at least rudiments of plans.

Jury Decides 25 Per Cent Disability

After deliberating a little less than an hour, an Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon decided that a janitor at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company had 25 per cent disability of his back and his right foot.

The jury was identical with that which decided another case Wednesday involving a Luke mill worker. The only difference was that Joseph H. Wagner, this city, who had been a member of the earlier jury, was made the foreman of this one.

Benjamin H. Phares of Keyser, the janitor, had appealed a decision of the State Workmen's Compensation Commission. The commission had ruled that Mr. Phares had 20 per cent disability to his back, 10 per cent of which pre-existed his accidental injury at the mill, and 15 per cent disability to his right foot.

Although the jury ruled that Mr. Phares had 25 per cent permanent partial disability to his back, it decided that 10 per cent of the disability pre-existed his two accidental injuries, which occurred exactly six months apart —on October 19, 1960, and April 19, 1961. On each occasion a plank fell on his right foot.

The jury verdict made no stipulation about any pre-existing injury to his foot so that all of the 25 per cent foot disability was attributable to Mr. Phares' accidental injuries.

Not only were the seven men and five women on the jury the same, but all four attorneys and the presiding judge were the same who participated in the earlier trial Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Phares was represented by Attorneys Simon F. Reilly and Milton Gerson and West Virginia Pulp and Paper was represented by Attorneys Horace P. Whitworth Jr. and Hugh A. McMullen. Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey presided.

Four Injured In Crash Near Westernport

Car Spins Around On Wet Highway

Four persons were admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser yesterday afternoon with injuries sustained in a two-car collision on Maryland Route 135 about two miles east of Westernport.

James B. Marshall, 52, of Main Street, Lonaconing, driver of one of the cars, sustained a concussion and laceration of his forehead and an injury to his left eye.

Evelyn Fay Marshall, 48, same address, sustained a laceration of her forehead and a nose injury.

David T. Maine, 23 of James Street, Keyser, sustained a possible injury to his spine.

Keith A. Maine, 25, same address, driver of the other car, apparently was unhurt, police said.

Tfc. Robert C. Dishong of the Maryland State Police said Maine was driving west on Route 135 and in the process of passing a vehicle lost control on the wet highway, spun around in the road and was hit on the right side by the car being driven east by Marshall.

An investigation is being continued in the accident at 4:10 p.m.

Volunteers Preparing TB Seals

Volunteer workers are busy at the South Liberty Street office of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Tuberculosis Association enclosing Christmas seals in envelopes which will be mailed early next month to residents of the two counties.

Mrs. Dorothy McKenty, executive secretary of the association, said yesterday the project began October 16 and will continue next week.

On November 9, she said, a total of 22,819 envelopes with seals will be mailed out, including 20,365 to Allegany County residents and 2,454 to Garrett County residents.

Last year $17,492.14 was realized in the drive in which 21,194 envelopes containing seals were mailed out in the two-county area.

Glenn K. Davis, seal campaign chairman, said last year's proceeds bought the following for Allegany and Garrett counties:

Clothing and transportation for patients from the two counties going to sanitoriums, support of chest clinics, free mobile X-rays, occupational therapy for patients in sanatoriums, monthly allowances for indigent patients at the sanatoriums, case finding, health education and research and support of the clothing bank of the Maryland TB Association.

Mrs. McKenty pointed out that six per cent of the proceeds are turned over to national headquarters for research, 15 per cent to the Maryland Association which provides services to Allegany and Garrett counties and the balance for use in the two counties.

Some of the money is used for year-round repair work to X-ray equipment at the Allegany County Health Department and also for transportation to a man or wife to visit an indigent person in a sanatorium.

Kaylor Cites Dan's Mountain Area Progress

Comfort Station Bids Are Sought

Before leaving Allegany County yesterday, Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the State Department of Forests and Parks, reported that a number of steps have been taken since the middle of the summer to improve the facilities at the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area near Lonaconing.

The State Department of Public Improvement has advertised for bids for a comfort station for the area and they should be received within the next 30 days. The electrical system of the area is being extended through an arrangement with Potomac Edison.

State employes have graded the temporary access road, and a permanent road 50 feet wide will be constructed next spring, according to Mr. Kaylor. He said the road has been surveyed and cleared and will be allowed to settle until spring.

The state department head stated that a new picnic area is being developed farther up Dan's Mountain.

Mr. Kaylor said employes in his department are setting up a battlefield and playground in the recreation area. Playground equipment has been purchased and picnic tables have been constructed, but they will not be put into place until weather suitable for outdoor activities arrives in the spring.

Two problems which have not yet been solved, the water supply and sewage disposal system, are now in the hands of an engineer for the State Department of Public Improvements, Mr. Kaylor added.

The director of the State Department of Forests and Parks pointed out that the funds for the improvement of the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area in this current fiscal year were not available until mid-July, so that the improvements could not be made before the outdoor recreation season was over.

Mr. Kaylor came to Cumberland Wednesday in order to report to the Route 40 Association at a dinner meeting at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club on progress made on the proposed Rocky Gap State Park east of Cumberland. Some $100,000 has been appropriated toward the purchase of 2,200 to 2,500 acres of woodland north of U. S. Route 40.

Walsh Calls Hughes Attack Misleading

Explains Position On Senate Bill 19

Del. William Walsh, Democratic candidate for state senator, said last night he tried to help working people by amending Senate Bill 19, which tightened restrictions on unemployment compensation payments.

Furthermore, he told a Democratic rally at the Clover Leaf Restaurant on Virginia Avenue, the Democratic Party in Allegany County has taken a stand against the bill, which will be a referendum on the November 6 general election ballot, and the Republicans have taken no stand.

Del. Walsh has been under attack by his Republican opponent, George R. Hughes Jr., for voting for SB 19 which was passed by the General Assembly.

"I think it is time to set the record straight," Mr. Walsh said.

"In 1961 after the unemployment insurance fund had been reduced from $130 million to below $60 million, Senate Bill 19 was introduced by Senator Malkus in the State Senate. It was passed by the Senate in substantially the same form that it was introduced. It was then referred to the House Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member, and I was appointed as chairman of the subcommittee to study the bill.

Commended By Labor

"A number of objections to some of the provisions of the bill were made by representatives of organized labor, and I was successful in securing a number of amendments to the bill which were desired by organized labor, but it was not possible to secure all of the amendments they desired. The bill, as amended, was approved by the Judiciary Committee, reported to the House and finally passed third reading by a vote of 70 to 48, and the amemded bill was later passed by the Senate and signed by the governor.

"After having the bill amended, I received the following telegram from W. F. (Woody) Strong and Charles A. Della, legislative representatives of the organized labor groups which were interested in the bill:

" 'We appreciate the subcommittee's sincere efforts to amend Senate Bill 19 so as to remove or modify restrictive provisions contained therein. However in spite of their sincerity and devoted efforts we consider the amended bill regressive and not in the general interest of the unfortunate unemployed. Therefore urge you to vote against SB 19.'

"After urging adoption of the amendments I was able to obtain, I felt that I would stultify myself if I turned around and voted against the bill, hence I voted for it. However, if it had not been for my efforts, with the assistance of several other delegates, the bill in its original form as passed by the Senate could very well have been approved by the House, and this would have resulted in none of labor's amendments being adopted.

"My opponent referred particularly to the provisions regarding pregnant women. The present law requires that pregnant women may, if unemployed, receive unemployment benefits during the first seven months of pregnancy. Senate Bill 19, as it passed the State Senate, prohibited them from even receiving any benefits during these seven months. I succeeded in getting an amendment which restored benefits to them for the first five months of pregnancy. This was better by five months than was the original bill, and is only two months less than the present law provides.

GOP Silent On Bill

"I think I should also add that a referendum is to be held on the bill in the coming election. The Democratic sample ballot has been marked against the bill, while the Republican sample ballot prepared by the supporters of my opponent is completely silent on the bill.

"In other words, the Democratic Party in Alfegany County has gone on record in opposition to Senate Bill 19, and is urging its members to vote against it. The bill is on referendum, and while I felt obligated to vote for the bill in Annapolis, after securing the amendments for which organized labor has commended me, I feel under no obligation to publicly support the bill in the referendum and I am not doing so. On the other hand, the Republican sample ballot is not marked either way on Senate Bill 19, nor has the Republican Party in this county taken any position on it, so that my opponent, who says he is against it, has been unable to get his Republican supporters to do anything about it.

"In view of the foregoing, I submit that my opponent's criticism of me in connection with Senate Bill 19 is completely unjustified. He made other attacks, some of which are certainly misleading, and I will discuss these matters later."

Mathias Urges Big Turnout For Election

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias, Thursday called on the leaders of all service clubs, fraternal and veterans' organizations and civic groups, "to spark a drive to the ballot boxes on November 6 and enlist your leadership in a citizens' crusade of faith in America's two-party system in direct contrast to despotic Communist government."

Speaking before the Wheaton Kiwanis Thursday luncheon, Rep. Mathias said, "An overwhelming turnout of America's electorate, I believe, is one of the greatest contributions American citizens can make in this current Cuban crisis. An American voter holds in his power the most potent weapon for freedom—his ballot on November 6 for the candidates of his choice.

"By voting in great numbers," Rep. Mathias said, "the American people will exercise their inherent right and duty to participate in the formulation of our national goals. We will focus attention on the contrast between our government of free men and those systems in which a small ruling clique, unresponsive to the will of their own people, implement their will by force and manipulate the destinies of nations.

"Each voter by casting his ballot will be participating in government and helping to support and advance the principles upon which American democracy is founded. This will be an individual contribution of great importance, particularly during this Cuban crisis."

Rep. Mathias said he had sent telegrams to the heads of national service clubs, fraternal and veterans' organizations, as well as to civic and business groups in his Sixth Congressional District, calling for this "crusade of citizen voters."

Local 26 COPE Endorses Hughes

The Committee on Political Education (COPE) of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, has endorsed Republican George R. Hughes Jr. for state senator.

G. M. Yost, chairman, said the committee stands 100 per cent behind all endorsements made by the Maryland State AFL-CIO Council COPE and by the Western Maryland Central Labor Council COPE. Neither endorsed a candidiate for state senator, and Local 26 is backing Mr. Hughes on an individual basis.

The Local 26 COPE said it made the choice because Democrat Del William Walsh's record on Senate Bill 19 was "not" in the best interest of labor." The committee said Mr. Hughes had "a good voting record" as a delegate and has publicly spoken against SB 19.

Potentate's Ball Deadline Is Set

Further details concerning the dinner and ball at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club on Wednesday, October 31, honoring George M. Klepper of Memphis, Tenn., imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, were announced yesterday by J. Wallace Close, illustrious potentate of Ali Ghan Temple.

The hospitality hour starting at 5:30 p. m. will be open to all Shrine nobles and their wives obtaining tickets for the banquet and ball. Mr. Close also observed that inadvertently the tickets printed for the banquet and ball did not note the fact that each lady attending will receive a gift.

C. William Gilchrist, local attorney and noble of Ali Ghan Temple, will serve as toastmaster for the banquet starting at 7 p. m. next Wednesday. This will take place immediately after the review of the uniformed units of Ali Ghan starting at 6:30 p. m.

Finally, Mr. Close said that because of a delay in mailing announcements concerning the banquet and ball to Shriners, the deadline for the purchase of tickets has been extended to next Monday, October 29.

Big Green Bank 'Scope Is Unveiled To Public

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The world's largest movable radio telescope has gone to work.

Before long, the National Science Foundation said Thursday, it will be supplying answers to questions about:

—The intense radiation belts around the sun's biggest planet, Jupiter, and similar belts which may envelop Uranus and Neptune.

—Radio waves from hot bright stars and from the remnants of catastrophic explosions which turn ordinary stars into supernovae.

The telescope, built for only $850,000, was shown to the public at an open house Thursday at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory in Green Bank, W. Va.

The new radio instrument has a dish antenna, 300 feet across, nearly big enough to hold a football field. It stands 23 stories above the ground. Test observations which began Sept. 20 were so fruitful that the telescope was put to work full time seven days later.

Green Bank already has an 85-foot radio telescope and is building a 140-foot dish. These telescopes are fully steerable—they can be aimed at any point in the sky above the horizon. The largest dish up to now, the 250-foot telescope at England's Jodrell Bank, also is fully steerable.

Among the first objects in the sky to be examined by the new telescope is Jupiter. Jupiter broadcasts in many ways. Something similar to giant thunderstorms transmit bursts of radio signals now and then.

Cinder Barrels To Go Out Soon

Two signs of the changing season will be placed into effect by the Cumberland Street Department.

Cinder barrels are being prepared and will be placed at strategic points throughout the city, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner.

At the same time, city crews will take in and store the benches placed on city streets for the convenience of shoppers.

Reports Given To C Of C Board

The board of directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce yesterday heard a report on the activities of the City-County Water and Sewage Commission.

Directors also received reports on the highly successful Business-Education Day activities here, according to Robert C. Petersen, manager.

Local Market Plans Addition

Carl L. McIntyre received a permit to build a 26 by 50-foot addition to his market at 201 Valley Street. It will be about 26 by 50 feet, of brick and concrete block construction and will cost about $7,000.

Snow Builds Up On Mountain Roads In Area

Chains Suggested West Of Frostburg

The use of chains was recommended by the State Roads Commission last night as autumn's first general snow began to build up on the highways west of Frostburg.

All roads west of Frostburg were snow covered and were becoming harardous as the temperature skidded below freezing.

Roads east of Cumberland were bare, although the SRC had to dispatch one crew early in the evening to Martin Mountain after a half-inch of snow accumulated.

The snowfall was general in the mountains. The Western Maryland Railway reported at 9 p. m. that it was 30 and cloudy at Deal, Pa., where three inches of snow covered the ground. It was 24 and snowing at Elkins, W. Va., which had an accumulation of two inches.

Garrett County reported that a light snow was still falling at 9 p. m. when the thermometer stood at 27 degrees. From one to three inches of snow was reported in the county.

SRC Crews Out

The SRC had 11 crews out, plowing the highways and applying chemicals.

In the Frostburg area, roads were about 75 per cent bare at 9 p. m. It was 30 degrees and up to 3½ inches of snow had built up.

The SRC had three crews working on highways in the Frostburg vicinity, and Frostburg City crews were called out early last night to cinder streets as a light snow began to fall.

Beginning today, someone will be on duty at the District 6 office at all times, so SRC forces can be dispatched as soon as snow or ice begins building up on highways in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

The weather alert will be continued until mid-April.

Large flakes of snow fell in Cumberland but melted instantly as they touched the ground. Light rain was reported in other sections of Maryland during the afternoon.

Frost Predicted

The Weather Bureau predicted the overnight low temperatures would drop into the 20s for the second straight day in Western Maryland.

The unofficial low for Maryland Thursday morning was 21 degrees at the University of Maryland fruit laboratory near Hancock in Washington County. The low reading on Big Savage Mountain west of Frostburg Thursday was 25 degrees.

Frederick's reading of 25 degrees was its coldest October temperature in the past 10 years.

With the low temperatures, frost is expected to hit many sections as it did Thursday.

Thursday afternoon's high temperatures generally were in the 40s, except for some 30s in Western Maryland and mostly 50s in the southeast section.

The Weather Bureau said the high reading Friday would be somewhat lower in the western portion of the state, with mostly sunny weather prevailing. Some snow flurries, however, are expected in Western Maryland.

Several Auto Accidents Occur In City Limits

A local 14-year-old boy was reported to have ran into the side of a car driven by a LaVale resident, one in a series of accidents reported to city police.

Two cars were reported to have been involved in an accident about 3:26 p. m. at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Bedford Street.

Minutes later two cars reportedly were in an accident on Virginia Avenue and another minor accident was reported on Bedford Street.

At 4:25 p. m. two cars collided at the Dingle traffic light, and a Jeep vehicle was reported to have struck a sign on Louisiana Avenue about 20 minutes later.

TB Seals Prepared For Mailing

Four Area Counties Plan For Shelter For Children

The three Eastern Panhandle counties—Berkeley, Jefferson and Morgan—and the neighboring South Branch Valley county of Grant are included among the seven West Virginia counties which now have plans for providing shelter for school children.

However, a United Press International dispatch from Charleston said that "none of the plans has been tested and an evaluation of their effectiveness is not possible."

Other counties in West Virginia whose school systems have any comprehensive, clear-cut plans for shelter or evacuation of students during a possible enemy attack are Wood, Calhoun and Gilmer.

Evacuation Plans

Daryl Ely, project and training officer for the State Civil Defense Office, said 12 other counties have plans to evacuate children to their own homes.

He said plans of four counties have been tested by civil defense and school officials with Mercer and Wyoming receiving a rating of "good," Roane "fair" and Tucker "poor."

Ely said seven other counties have not been tested but their plans have been rated. Marshall and Wetzel counties were termed "good" and Clay, Jackson, Logan, Mingo and Wayne "fair."

Ely said 25 other counties have no plans at all and the remaining 11 have not reported.

State Civil Defense Director William J. Mathews Jr. said since 1961 the state unit in cooperation with the State Education Department has encouraged counties to develop shelter and evacuation plans. He said the policy is to "get those children home in the event of an emergency if there is time."

Time Element Cited

The time element, Mathews said, would be determined by civil defense and school officials at the local level in the event of an emergency.

"This policy still stands today," he said. "It is the sensible thing to do if there is time."

He said that the few evacuation tests made in the various counties over the past year had been generally satisfactory. "However, the testing we have anticipated has not been done."

But Mathews added that he felt about 50 per cent of the counties had looked into the problem of shelter and evacuation and they have at least rudiments of plans.

Jury Decides 25 Per Cent Disability

After deliberating a little less than an hour, an Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon decided that a janitor at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company had 25 per cent disability of his back and his right foot.

The jury was identical with that which decided another case Wednesday involving a Luke mill worker. The only difference was that Joseph H. Wagner, this city, who had been a member of the earlier jury, was made the foreman of this one.

Benjamin H. Phares of Keyser, the janitor, had appealed a decision of the State Workmen's Compensation Commission. The commission had ruled that Mr. Phares had 20 per cent disability to his back, 10 per cent of which pre-existed his accidental injury at the mill, and 15 per cent disability to his right foot.

Although the jury ruled that Mr. Phares had 25 per cent permanent partial disability to his back, it decided that 10 per cent of the disability pre-existed his two accidental injuries, which occurred exactly six months apart —on October 19, 1960, and April 19, 1961. On each occasion a plank fell on his right foot.

The jury verdict made no stipulation about any pre-existing injury to his foot so that all of the 25 per cent foot disability was attributable to Mr. Phares' accidental injuries.

Not only were the seven men and five women on the jury the same, but all four attorneys and the presiding judge were the same who participated in the earlier trial Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Phares was represented by Attorneys Simon F. Reilly and Milton Gerson and West Virginia Pulp and Paper was represented by Attorneys Horace P. Whitworth Jr. and Hugh A. McMullen. Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey presided.

Local 26 COPE Endorses Hughes

The Committee on Political Education (COPE) of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, has endorsed Republican George R. Hughes Jr. for state senator.

G. M. Yost, chairman, said the committee stands 100 per cent behind all endorsements made by the Maryland State AFL-CIO Council COPE and by the Western Maryland Central Labor Council COPE. Neither endorsed a candidiate for state senator, and Local 26 is backing Mr. Hughes on an individual basis.

The Local 26 COPE said it made the choice because Democrat Del William Walsh's record on Senate Bill 19 was "not" in the best interest of labor." The committee said Mr. Hughes had "a good voting record" as a delegate and has publicly spoken against SB 19.

Dr. William T. Fridinger, city, president of the Maryland State Dental Association, has been named an alternate to the annual session of the American Dental Association which opens October 29 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Four Injured In Crash Near Westernport

Car Spins Around On Wet Highway

Four persons were admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser yesterday afternoon with injuries sustained in a two-car collision on Maryland Route 135 about two miles east of Westernport.

James B. Marshall, 52, of Main Street, Lonaconing, driver of one of the cars, sustained a concussion and laceration of his forehead and an injury to his left eye.

Evelyn Fay Marshall, 48, same address, sustained a laceration of her forehead and a nose injury.

Katherine Marie Shaw, 43, Westernport, sustained a laceration of her forehead and complained of a chest injury.

David T. Maine, 23 of James Street, Keyser, sustained a possible injury to his spine.

Keith A. Maine, 25, same address, driver of the other car, apparently was unhurt, police said.

Tfc. Robert C. Dishong of the Maryland State Police said Maine was driving west on Route 135 and in the process of passing a vehicle lost control on the wet highway, spun around in the road and was hit on the right side by the car being driven east by Marshall.

An investigation is being continued in the accident at 4:10 p.m.

Potentate's Ball Deadline Is Set

Further details concerning the dinner and ball at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club on Wednesday, October 31, honoring George M. Klepper of Memphis, Tenn., imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, were announced yesterday by J. Wallace Close, illustrious potentate of Ali Ghan Temple.

The hospitality hour starting at 5:30 p. m. will be open to all Shrine nobles and their wives obtaining tickets for the banquet and ball. Mr. Close also observed that inadvertently the tickets printed for the banquet and ball did not note the fact that each lady attending will receive a gift.

C. William Gilchrist, local attorney and noble of Ali Ghan Temple, will serve as toastmaster for the banquet starting at 7 p. m. next Wednesday. This will take place immediately after the review of the uniformed units of Ali Ghan starting at 6:30 p. m.

Finally, Mr. Close said that because of a delay in mailing announcements concerning the banquet and ball to Shriners, the deadline for the purchase of tickets has been extended to next Monday, October 29.

Volunteers Preparing TB Seals

Volunteer workers are busy at the South Liberty Street office of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Tuberculosis Association enclosing Christmas seals in envelopes which will be mailed early next month to residents of the two counties.

Mrs. Dorothy McKenty, executive secretary of the association, said yesterday the project began October 16 and will continue next week.

On November 9, she said, a total of 22,819 envelopes with seals will be mailed out, including 20,365 to Allegany County residents and 2,454 to Garrett County residents.

Last year $17,492.14 was realized in the drive in which 21,194 envelopes containing seals were mailed out in the two-county area.

Glenn K. Davis, seal campaign chairman, said last year's proceeds bought the following for Allegany and Garrett counties:

Clothing and transportation for patients from the two counties going to sanitoriums, support of chest clinics, free mobile X-rays, occupational therapy for patients in sanatoriums, monthly allowances for indigent patients at the sanatoriums, case finding, health education and research and support of the clothing bank of the Maryland TB Association.

Mrs. McKenty pointed out that six per cent of the proceeds are turned over to national headquarters for research, 15 per cent to the Maryland Association which provides services to Allegany and Garrett counties and the balance for use in the two counties.

Some of the money is used for year-round repair work to X-ray equipment at the Allegany County Health Department and also for transportation to a man or wife to visit an indigent person in a sanatorium.

Big Green Bank 'Scope Is Unveiled To Public

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The world's largest movable radio telescope has gone to work.

Before long, the National Science Foundation said Thursday, it will be supplying answers to questions about:

—The intense radiation belts around the sun's biggest planet, Jupiter, and similar belts which may envelop Uranus and Neptune.

—The birth of extremely bright blue giant stars in the dust and gas of our galaxy, the Milky Way.

—Distribution of hydrogen gas in Andromeda and other neighboring galaxies.

—Radio waves from hot bright stars and from the remnants of catastrophic explosions which turn ordinary stars into supernovae.

The telescope, built for only $850,000, was shown to the public at an open house Thursday at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory in Green Bank, W. Va.

The new radio instrument has a dish antenna, 300 feet across, nearly big enough to hold a football field. It stands 23 stories above the ground. Test observations which began Sept. 20 were so fruitful that the telescope was put to work full time seven days later.

Green Bank already has an 85-foot radio telescope and is building a 140-foot dish. These telescopes are fully steerable—they can be aimed at any point in the sky above the horizon. The largest dish up to now, the 250-foot telescope at England's Jodrell Bank, also is fully steerable.

Among the first objects in the sky to be examined by the new telescope is Jupiter. Jupiter broadcasts in many ways. Something similar to giant thunderstorms transmit bursts of radio signals now and then.

Kaylor Cites Dan's Mountain Area Progress

Comfort Station Bids Are Sought

Before leaving Allegany County yesterday, Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the State Department of Forests and Parks, reported that a number of steps have been taken since the middle of the summer to improve the facilities at the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area near Lonaconing.

The State Department of Public Improvement has advertised for bids for a comfort station for the area and they should be received within the next 30 days. The electrical system of the area is being extended through an arrangement with Potomac Edison.

State employes have graded the temporary access road, and a permanent road 50 feet wide will be constructed next spring, according to Mr. Kaylor. He said the road has been surveyed and cleared and will be allowed to settle until spring.

The state department head stated that a new picnic area is being developed farther up Dan's Mountain.

Mr. Kaylor said employes in his department are setting up a battlefield and playground in the recreation area. Playground equipment has been purchased and picnic tables have been constructed, but they will not be put into place until weather suitable for outdoor activities arrives in the spring.

Two problems which have not yet been solved, the water supply and sewage disposal system, are now in the hands of an engineer for the State Department of Public Improvements, Mr. Kaylor added.

The director of the State Department of Forests and Parks pointed out that the funds for the improvement of the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area in this current fiscal year were not available until mid-July, so that the improvements could not be made before the outdoor recreation season was over.

Mr. Kaylor came to Cumberland Wednesday in order to report to the Route 40 Association at a dinner meeting at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club on progress made on the proposed Rocky Gap State Park east of Cumberland. Some $100,000 has been appropriated toward the purchase of 2,200 to 2,500 acres of woodland north of U. S. Route 40.

Mathias Urges Big Turnout For Election

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias, Thursday called on the leaders of all service clubs, fraternal and veterans' organizations and civic groups, "to spark a drive to the ballot boxes on November 6 and enlist your leadership in a citizens' crusade of faith in America's two-party system in direct contrast to despotic Communist government."

Speaking before the Wheaton Kiwanis Thursday luncheon, Rep. Mathias said, "An overwhelming turnout of America's electorate, I believe, is one of the greatest contributions American citizens can make in this current Cuban crisis. An American voter holds in his power the most potent weapon for freedom—his ballot on November 6 for the candidates of his choice.

"By voting in great numbers," Rep. Mathias said, "the American people will exercise their inherent right and duty to participate in the formulation of our national goals. We will focus attention on the contrast between our government of free men and those systems in which a small ruling clique, unresponsive to the will of their own people, implement their will by force and manipulate the destinies of nations.

"Each voter by casting his ballot will be participating in government and helping to support and advance the principles upon which American democracy is founded. This will be an individual contribution of great importance, particularly during this Cuban crisis."

Rep. Mathias said he had sent telegrams to the heads of national service clubs, fraternal and veterans' organizations, as well as to civic and business groups in his Sixth Congressional District, calling for this "crusade of citizen voters."

Walsh Calls Hughes Attack Misleading

Explains Position On Senate Bill 19

Del. William Walsh, Democratic candidate for state senator, said last night he tried to help working people by amending Senate Bill 19, which tightened restrictions on unemployment compensation payments.

Furthermore, he told a Democratic rally at the Clover Leaf Restaurant on Virginia Avenue, the Democratic Party in Allegany County has taken a stand against the bill, which will be a referendum on the November 6 general election ballot, and the Republicans have taken no stand.

Del. Walsh has been under attack by his Republican opponent, George R. Hughes Jr., for voting for SB 19 which was passed by the General Assembly.

"I think it is time to set the record straight," Mr. Walsh said.

"In 1961 after the unemployment insurance fund had been reduced from $130 million to below $60 million, Senate Bill 19 was introduced by Senator Malkus in the State Senate. It was passed by the Senate in substantially the same form that it was introduced. It was then referred to the House Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member, and I was appointed as chairman of the subcommittee to study the bill.

Commended By Labor

"A number of objections to some of the provisions of the bill were made by representatives of organized labor, and I was successful in securing a number of amendments to the bill which were desired by organized labor, but it was not possible to secure all of the amendments they desired. The bill, as amended, was approved by the Judiciary Committee, reported to the House and finally passed third reading by a vote of 70 to 48, and the amemded bill was later passed by the Senate and signed by the governor.

"After having the bill amended, I received the following telegram from W. F. (Woody) Strong and Charles A. Della, legislative representatives of the organized labor groups which were interested in the bill:

"'We appreciate the subcommittee's sincere efforts to amend Senate Bill 19 so as to remove or modify restrictive provisions contained therein. However in spite of their sincerity and devoted efforts we consider the amended bill regressive and not in the general interest of the unfortunate unemployed. Therefore urge you to vote against SB 19.'

"After urging adoption of the amendments I was able to obtain, I felt that I would stultify myself if I turned around and voted against the bill, hence I voted for it. However, if it had not been for my efforts, with the assistance of several other delegates, the bill in its original form as passed by the Senate could very well have been approved by the House, and this would have resulted in none of labor's amendments being adopted.

"My opponent referred particularly to the provisions regarding pregnant women. The present law requires that pregnant women may, if unemployed, receive unemployment benefits during the first seven months of pregnancy. Senate Bill 19, as it passed the State Senate, prohibited them from even receiving any benefits during these seven months. I succeeded in getting an amendment which restored benefits to them for the first five months of pregnancy. This was better by five months than was the original bill, and is only two months less than the present law provides.

GOP Silent On Bill

"I think I should also add that a referendum is to be held on the bill in the coming election. The Democratic sample ballot has been marked against the bill, while the Republican sample ballot prepared by the supporters of my opponent is completely silent on the bill.

"In other words, the Democratic Party in Allegany County has gone on record in opposition to Senate Bill 19, and is urging its members to vote against it. The bill is on referendum, and while I felt obligated to vote for the bill in Annapolis, after securing the amendments for which organized labor has commended me, I feel under no obligation to publicly support the bill in the referendum and I am not doing so. On the other hand, the Republican sample ballot is not marked either way on Senate Bill 19, nor has the Republican Party in this county taken any position on it, so that my opponent, who says he is against it, has been unable to get his Republican supporters to do anything about it.

"In view of the foregoing, I submit that my opponent's criticism of me in connection with Senate Bill 19 is completely unjustified. He made other attacks, some of which are certainly misleading, and I will discuss these matters later."

Local Market Plans Addition

A permit for an addition to a grocery business was issued by the City of Cumberland yesterday.

Carl L. McIntyre received a permit to build a 26 by 50-foot addition to his market at 201 Valley Street. It will be about 26 by 50 feet, of brick and concrete block construction and will cost about $7,000.
